$5,000 CARGO OF CHRISTMAS GOODS UPSETS

A five thousand dollar cargo of Christmas goods bound for the Rea and Derick store on center square, from Northumberland, was strewn along a 500-foot stretch of the Harrisburg road a mile north of here just before noon today when the side of the covered van hauling the goods was stripped off in a collision with a tree.

Lester Willard, 38, Sunbury, driver of the truck, said he fell asleep. After the truck hit the tree on the west side of the highway it veered across the road and stopped completely blocking the highway.

Treated at Hospital

Willard was treated at the Warner hospital for cuts on the forehead. He was taken to the hospital by John Hull, who lives near the scene of the crash.

Willard's load of candies, cigarettes, sugar, coffee, Coca-Cola and toiletries was spread along the roadside and on the highway. The right side of the van was stripped off completely.

A Gettysburg truck was called to the scene to gather up usable parts of the three-ton load.

At 1:45 o'clock this afternoon the highway remained blocked, forcing traffic to detour by the Hunterstown or Biglerville roads.

Willard was riding alone. His last stop before the crash was at Harrisburg.

Mighty Nippon Armada Crushed; Yanks Reign Supreme In Solomons

Americans

General MacArthur's Headquarters, Australia, Nov. 17 (AP)—Led by General MacArthur, jungle-toughened American and Australian troops forged within heavy cannon shot of Buna today, ready to fight the Japanese for that key base or take it by default.

The commander-in-chief of the southwest Pacific went into the field himself to direct the campaign and with him were General Sir Thomas Blamey, his commander of Allied land forces, and Lieut. Gen. George C. Kenney, his commander of Allied air forces.

Today's headquarters communique said that Australian patrols had reached the vicinity of Awala, only 20 miles by trail from Buna, with Australian and American forces closing in rapidly from the west and south against a steadily retreating enemy.

The Japanese faced either a last-ditch stand or an attempt to flee by sea. General MacArthur last had been in the field during the battle of Bataan to direct active operations.

American B-25 medium bombers and A-20 attack planes teamed with Australian Beaufighters to strafe and bomb the retreating enemy around Buna and along the Kumusi river. Japanese were fleeing toward the coast in canoes going down the Kumusi which reaches the sea northeast of Buna and these frail craft thrice were made the targets for Allied planes.

Greatest Naval Victory

Washington, Nov. 17 (AP)—The United States Navy dominated the battle-quickened waters of the Solomon Islands today after crushing a mighty Japanese armada in an epic struggle which might well have broken the back of the enemy fleet.

In a savage three-day conflict that sent the foe's battered naval remnants into hiding, 23 Nipponese ships were sunk, seven were damaged and possibly 20,000 to 40,000 Japanese troops were lost in the swirl of sunken transports.

First details of the battle that raged from Nov. 13 to 15 were released by the Navy last night. Further reports may boost the staggering toll taken of enemy ships but already the victory was hailed by naval officers unofficially as the greatest of the war thus far, and perhaps of modern times.

The partial reports listed the sinking of a Japanese battleship, three heavy cruisers, two light cruisers, five destroyers, eight crowded transports and four cargo ships. The American losses were given as two light cruisers and six destroyers.

British

Cairo, Nov. 17 (AP)—British troops occupied the port of Derna, 150 miles short of Benghazi, and Mekill yesterday and other units of the British Eighth army swept by to pursue the broken army of Field Marshal Erwin Rommel along the Libyan coastal road, it was announced officially.

The position of Rommel's shattered forces was not given in today's short communique, but they were last reported stretched out along the road from Bengasi to El Aghella, with the mass of his battered trucks and equipment apparently in the El Aghella area, some 400 miles from the main Axis base of Tripoli.

Neither was the whereabouts of Rommel's remaining airplanes—if any—known, for U. S. Middle East headquarters said its fighters scouted the desert skies yesterday without finding a sign of an enemy craft.

Bad weather interrupted the strafing and bombing activities of the Allied air forces and Rommel's tired troops apparently enjoyed their first day of rest from aerial attacks in more than two weeks.

Running Sea Fight

Thus, in 11 months of war, Associated Press records show that 365 Japanese ships have been sent to the bottom of the Pacific as against 84 American vessels, including those at Pearl Harbor. Of these losses, 119 were Japanese warships and 50 were American.

Much of the running sea fight was fought at close range and in darkness. So furious was the action that at one time two of three large Japanese units that converged for an attack on prized Guadalcanal Island "seemed confused," the Navy said, and "were firing at each other."

Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, commander in chief of the Pacific fleet, declared at Pearl Harbor last night he believed the Japanese "brought down everything they had."

Russians

Moscow, Nov. 17 (AP)—The Red Army killed more than 3,000 Germans in fresh fighting while holding solidly all along the wintry front and taking the initiative at some points, today's early war communique reported.

The official report said the Germans in the past two days spent 1,500 lives in futile efforts to retake an important town on the Volkhov front in the Leningrad sector where the Russians had seized the initiative and advanced after a long period of relative calm.

A like number of Nazis were sacrificed Monday in renewed attacks at Stalingrad, the communique said, and the invaders made no headway as their siege of the Volga citadel entered its 13th punishing week.

The Russians even reported that minor gains purchased at appalling cost a few days ago in one part of Stalingrad were nullified by counterattacks which shoved the enemy from a line he occupied two days ago.

Battleships Active

While battleships took part in the gigantic Naval engagement, the Japanese brought no airplane carriers. Nimitz expressed belief the foe either had no carriers left or "didn't choose to risk them." No mention was made as to whether American carriers participated.

Nimitz' assertion that "both sides had battleships and that our battleships contributed to the loss of the enemy to a great degree," was the first official disclosure of the presence of the big U. S. battlewagons in the southwestern Pacific fighting.

The Navy's description of the spectacular combat, fought under the immediate direction of Vice Admiral William F. Halsey, told of the discovery early this month of heavy Japanese shipping concentrations in the New Britain-northwestern Solomons area. This was the beginning of an attempted major assault to recapture Henderson airfield and other American positions in the Guadalcanal-Tulagi region.

Two Scarlet Fever Cases Quarantined

Two additional cases of scarlet fever were quarantined in rural Adams county this morning by William I. Shields, county health officer.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Lehr Kinefelter, Gettysburg R. 4, in Straban township was placarded because of the illness of Florence Alda, aged six years, one of seven children in the home.

The home of Oliver Sanders, Fairfield R. 1, Liberty township, also has been quarantined. A grandchild, Edward Sanders, aged two years, who lives in that home, is ill. The child is a son of Guy Sanders.

LARGE, SMALL GIFTS SEND USO FUND TO $6,197

Four large contributions and scores of smaller gifts from individuals in many parts of the county today sent the USO fund total in Adams county up to $6,197.64 after passing the $5,000 goal over the week-end.

The Aero Oil company at New Oxford donated the $381.99 it received from the sale of scrap rubber in the first big scrap rubber collection campaign through its company service stations last summer. In addition to that sum, the Aero Oil company added another $100 to a previous donation.

Local Contributions

In Gettysburg the local lodge of the Elks contributed $100 and the Elks club gave an equal amount. The Gettysburg lodge of the Loyal Order of Moose sent in $25 and the Woman's club of Gettysburg sent in a $25 check.

Other donors in today's list include $5 from the New Oxford Item company, $5 from the Coffman Fishier company, $5 from the East Berlin Lions club, $2 from the Chi Omega alumnae of Gettysburg college, $5 from the New Oxford Fire company, $5 from the Colonial Casting company at New Oxford and $3 from the New Oxford Garden club.

Mrs. Ellen Tipton Buehler, treasurer of the USO campaign committee in the county, today called upon all solicitors to make prompt reports. An effort is being made to complete the drive by the middle of this week. Originally it was scheduled to end on Armistice Day.

Here And There

Gettysburg women bridge players got an unexpected "peek" at how Uncle Sam is training his huge army the other night with the result that they may have given aid to the "enemy" and maybe they didn't... because no one knows even who was the "enemy."

While Mrs. Richard Brown was entertaining a bridge club at her home on the Fairfield road two soldiers appeared at the home and asked for something to eat. Rather surprised at this unusual request Mrs. Brown did not know what to do... she knows that Uncle Sam feeds his army well.

However, the two soldiers finally persuaded Mrs. Brown with their story. They said they were sent out from their camp (they did not say where their camp was located) without food or money and directed to reach (Please Turn to Page 4)

CROUSE GUILTY IN ONE SERIOUS CASE

With the reading of the verdict in the case of Vernon C. Crouse, Littlestown at 3:30 o'clock Monday afternoon in Adams county court, the November quarter session of criminal court ended making way for the opening of civil trials this morning.

Crouse was found guilty on one serious count involving an eight-year-old Littlestown girl who was the commonwealth's chief witness. The jury recommended leniency for Crouse in that case and acquitted him of a second serious accusation. The verdict was returned an hour and 10 minutes after the case was placed in the hands of the all-male jury for decision.

Crouse did not take the witness stand in his own defense. Richard A. Brown, Esq., his counsel, simply addressed the jury in his behalf.

LIONS ARRANGE 2 FOOD SHOWS TO AID NEEDY

Gettysburg Lions at their weekly meeting Monday evening voted to sponsor two benefit food shows at the Majestic theatre—one before Thanksgiving and the other before Christmas—with needy families of the community to be provided with holiday dinners first and the surplus to go to the Warner hospital.

Plans for the shows, which now have become annual events, were made after Lion Sydney Poppy offered the use of the Warner Brothers' theatre here.

Committee Report

President William A. Beales presided at the meeting which was devoted to business and the hearing of reports of standing committee chairmen. Finance, attendance, membership and extension, program, military affairs, scout, boys' and girls' work, blind work and welfare, education and safety, community betterment, reception and publicity, and greater committee chairmen presented reports and club activities and plans were discussed.

A meeting of the board of directors followed the general session. The meeting was held at Mrs. Smith's restaurant with 25 members in attendance.

Meeting at Graeffenburg

Next week the Lions will meet jointly with the Soroptimist club of Gettysburg at the Blue Parrot tea room where the ladies' service club will celebrate its birthday anniversary.

This evening President Beales and other members of the local club will represent Gettysburg Lions at a zone ladies' night meeting to be held at Graeffenburg inn with the program in charge of the Upper Adams club. H. Earl Pitzer of that club is the zone chairman.

FAIRFIELD CAST TO GIVE COMEDY

"Hullabaloo," a three-act comedy by Neil Schaffer, will be presented by the pupils of the Fairfield high school in the Fairfield community hall, Friday at 8 p. m.

The play is filled with romantic tension and a wealth of humor. It has an exterior setting.

The leading roles, those of "Cara," a young school teacher, and "Benito," a handsome gypsy, will be played by Jo-Ellen Nury and William Schulz, "Lettie" and her lovesick swain, "Nolly" will be played by Kathleen Kump and Floyd Curran. Merle Shindler and Dale McCams will be seen in the roles of "Eric Boardman," the local banker, and his blustering son, respectively. "Mrs. Morton," the invalid mother of "Cara," will be played by Kathleen Strausbaugh.

Each part is a prominent characterization—the gallant gypsy, who defies the world to help "Cara," the gentle mother, who fears him; the fun-making "Lettie" and "Nolly"; the hard-handed banker and his son, and "Cara," who finds the rainbow after the storm.

Music for the occasion will be furnished by the high school band.

Miss McClellan is directing the play.

MILLER ACTION DISCONTINUED IN COURT HERE

The scheduled re-trial of the suit against George A. Miller, Miller apartments, Chambersburg street, by his sister, Miss Mary A. Miller of Baltimore, was dropped suddenly this morning when the case record in the office of Prothonotary Lee M. Hartman at the court house was marked "discontinued."

This record also carried the notation that the costs of the case are to be paid by Miss Miller. The case headed the list of civil actions for trial at the current session of Common Pleas court.

A year ago a jury awarded Miss Miller a verdict of $17,500 against her brother on the basis of her claim that she had paid him sums totaling that amount years ago. Miller denied receiving the money from his sister and claimed that instead she had sought financial aid from him.

Won Second Trial

J. Francis Yake, Esq., who represented Mr. Miller, filed more than 25 motions for a new trial and finally won a court order for a re-trial of the action chiefly on the basis of a $3,000 check which he discovered Miss Miller had paid over to a Catholic church project during the period in which she testified in court that all withdrawals from her bank account had been for the benefit of her brother.

Neither Mr. Yake as counsel for Mr. Miller nor E. V. Bulleit, Esq., who represents Miss Miller would discuss the conditions under which the discontinuance was arranged or the reasons for it. Whatever the reasons, Miss Miller has dropped her suit.

Coincidentally with the discontinuance of the court action, the court this morning signed a citation directed to both Miss Miller and her brother requiring them to file an account in the estate of their deceased mother, Mrs. Catherine Miller. The citation was petitioned for by Richard A. Brown, Esq., representing the Gettysburg National bank as trustee under the will of Mrs. Miller. The citations are returnable on December 14. Both were turned over immediately to Sheriff D. J. Wolf for service.

Damages Action

First civil case to go on trial this morning was the damages action by Edgar J. Warren, Wrenksville, against Ernest Carbaugh, Cashtown. In a verdict read at noon Carbaugh won the case. Warren will have the costs of the case to pay.

Warren, who was represented by Richard A. Brown, Esq., asked $114 for damages suffered by his car in an accident on the Cashtown-Arendtsville road on December 18, 1940. Warren claimed Carbaugh, who was driving a car traveling in the opposite direction forced him off the highway where he hit a pole.

Carbaugh, whose counsel was Franklin R. Bigham, Esq., denied that he had contributed in any way to the mishap that damaged the plaintiff's car. "The machines did not collide."

The jury in the case included: Roy Buttle, Mt. Pleasant township; Frank H. Brame, Conewago township; John Butler, Abbottstown R. 1; Miss Alma Cluck, McKnightstown; the Rev. Edmund G. Colestock, Fairfield; Mrs. H. M. Gardner, York Springs R. 2; Mrs. Marie Hartzell, Fairfield; Mrs. Margaret J. Knox, Gettysburg R. 3; Nellie I. Sanders, Abbottstown; Mrs. Maggie Slaybaugh, New Oxford R. 1; Fred Smith, McSherrytown, and Elmer C. Warner, York Springs R. 1.

This was the beginning of an attempted major assault to recapture Henderson airfield and other American positions in the Guadalcanal-Tulagi region.

Started November 10

The Rising Sun's offensive was underway November 10 with three Naval forces steaming to the attack. One prong approached the southeastern Solomons from the north. The other detachments, counting many transports, closed in from Rabaul and Buin, where they already had felt the lash of

CROUSE GUILTY IN ONE SERIOUS CASE

With the reading of the verdict in the case of Vernon C. Crouse, Littlestown at 3:20 o'clock Monday afternoon in Adams county court, the November quarter session of criminal court ended making way for the opening of civil trials this morning.

Crouse was found guilty on one serious count involving an eight-year-old Littlestown girl who was the commonwealth's chief witness. The jury recommended leniency for Crouse in that case and acquitted him of a second serious accusation. The verdict was returned an hour and 10 minutes after the case was placed in the hands of the all-male jury for decision.

Crouse did not take the witness stand in his own defense. Richard A. Brown, Esq., his counsel, simply addressed the jury in his behalf.

LIONS ARRANGE 2 FOOD SHOWS TO AID NEEDY

Gettysburg Lions at their weekly meeting Monday evening voted to sponsor two benefit food shows at the Majestic theatre—one before Thanksgiving and the other before Christmas—with needy families of the community to be provided with holiday dinners first and the surplus to go to the Warner hospital.

Plans for the shows, which now have become annual events, were made after Lion Sydney Poppey offered the use of the Warner Brothers' theatre here.

Committee Report

President William A. Beales presided at the meeting which was devoted to business and the hearing of reports of standing committee chairmen. Finance, attendance, membership and extension, program, military affairs, scout, boys' and girls' work, blind work and welfare, education and safety, community betterment, reception and publicity, and greeter committee chairmen presented reports and club activities and plans were discussed.

A meeting of the board of directors followed the general session. The meeting was held at Mrs. Smith's restaurant with 25 members in attendance.

Meeting at Graeffenburg

Next week the Lions will meet jointly with the Soroptimist club of Gettysburg at the Blue Parrot tea room where the ladies' service club will celebrate its birthday anniversary.

This evening President Beales and other members of the local club will represent Gettysburg Lions at a zone ladies' night meeting to be held at Graeffenburg inn with the program in charge of the Upper Adams club. H. Earl Pitzer of that club is the zone chairman.

FAIRFIELD CAST TO GIVE COMEDY

"Hullabaloo," a three-act comedy by Neil Schaffer, will be presented by the pupils of the Fairfield high school in the Fairfield community hall, Friday at 8 p. m.

The play is filled with romantic tension and a wealth of humor. It has an exterior setting.

The leading roles, those of "Cara," a young school teacher, and "Benito," a handsome gypsy, will be played by Jo-Ellen Nary and William Shultz. "Letty" and her love-sick swain, "Nolly," will be played by Kathleen Kump and Floyd Currens. Merle Shindeldecker and Dale McCann will be seen in the roles of "Eric Boardman," the local banker, and his blustering son, respectively. "Mrs. Morton," the invalid mother of "Cara," will be played by Kathleen Strausbaugh.

Each part is a prominent characterization—the gallant gypsy, who defies the world to help "Cara"; the gentle mother, who fears him; the fun-making "Letty" and "Nolly"; the hard-handed banker and his son, and "Cara," who finds the rainbow after the storm.

Music for the occasion will be furnished by the high school band.

Miss McClellan is directing the play.

MILLER ACTION DISCONTINUED IN COURT HERE

The scheduled re-trial of the suit against George A. Miller, Miller apartments, Chambersburg street, by his sister, Miss Mary A. Miller of Baltimore, was dropped suddenly this morning when the case record in the office of Prothonotary Lee M. Hartman at the court house was marked "discontinued."

The record also carried the notation that the costs of the case are to be paid by Miss Miller. The case headed the list of civil actions for trial at the current session of Common Pleas court.

A year ago a jury awarded Miss Miller a verdict of $17,500 against her brother on the basis of her claim that she had paid him sums totaling that amount years ago. Miller denied receiving the money from his sister and claimed that instead she had sought financial aid from him.

Won Second Trial

J. Francis Yake, Esq., who represented Mr. Miller, filed more than 25 motions for a new trial and finally won a court order for a re-trial of the action chiefly on the basis of a $3,000 check which he discovered Miss Miller had paid over to a Catholic church project during the period in which she testified in court that all withdrawals from her bank account had been for the benefit of her brother.

Neither Mr. Yake as counsel for Mr. Miller nor E. V. Bullett, Esq., who represents Miss Miller would discuss the conditions under which the discontinuance was arranged or the reasons for it. Whatever the reasons, Miss Miller has dropped her suit.

Coincidentally with the discontinuance of the court action, the court this morning signed a citation directed to both Miss Miller and her brother requiring them to file an account in the estate of their deceased mother, Mrs. Catherine Miller. The citation was petitioned for by Richard A. Brown, Esq., representing the Gettysburg National bank as trustee under the will of Mrs. Miller. The citations are returnable on December 14. Both were turned over immediately to Sheriff D. J. Wolff for service.

Damage Action

First civil case to go on trial this morning was the damage action by Edgar J. Warren, Wenskusville, against Ernest Carbaugh, Cashtown. In a verdict read at noon Carbaugh won the case. Warren will have the costs of the case to pay.

Warren, who was represented by Richard A. Brown, Esq., asked $114 for damages suffered by his car in an accident on the Cashtown-Arendtsville road on December 18, 1940. Warren claimed Carbaugh, who was driving a car traveling in the opposite direction forced him off the highway where he hit a pole.

Carbaugh, whose counsel was Franklin R. Bigham, Esq., denied that he had contributed in any way to the mishap that damaged the plaintiff's car. The machines did not collide.

The jury in the case included: Roy Bittle, Mr. Pleasant township; Frank H. Brame, Conewago township; John Butler, Abbotstown R. 1; Miss Alma Cluck, McKnights-town; the Rev. Emmert G. Colestock, Fairfield; Mrs. H. M. Gardner, York Springs R. 2; Mrs. Marie Hartzell, Fairfield; Mrs. Margaret J. Knox, Gettysburg R. 3; Nellie I. Sanders, Abbotstown; Mrs. Maggie Slaybaugh, New Oxford R. 1; Fred Smith, McSherrystown, and Elmer C. Wagner, York Springs R. 1.

Three More Cases

When court convened this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock attorneys began the selection of a jury for the trial of the damage action by the

RADIO PROGRAMS

New York, Nov. 16 (AP)—Is the flood of back-up-the-war broadcasts of every description being poured through the nation's loudspeakers so heavily it is inundating the listener? That is, are there so many such programs that the multiplicity is defeating their objective? How these questions could get an early and quick answer is another matter. The broadcaster isn't saying a word, hedged in as he is by government license control and other regulations. So far it is the listener who has begun to speak up in his quiet way—he either twists the dial or turns off the set when he thinks he has too much of a good thing.

Need of a central clearing house for all of the material going out has been put forward as a possible solution.

SAYS YANKEES HAVE PUNCH TO WIPE OUT JAPS

By WALTER B. CLAUSEN
Pearl Harbor, T. H., Nov. 17 (AP)—Japan's naval horde swept down on the Solomons to disaster in their all-out effort to smash American power in the south Pacific.
When full details of those three short but fiery engagements northwest of Guadalcanal on Nov. 13-15 become known, they will tell a story of not only the greatest naval battles ever staged at night, but also of the fiercest slugging combats in all naval history.
It was a most costly demonstration to Japan that not only have American forces complete control of the land, sea and sky there, but also they have the force to carry on an offensive.
"I think they brought everything they had," said Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, commander-in-chief of the Pacific fleet, significantly.
Major Victory
"As a result, all the enemy forces were either destroyed or driven back, and a major victory was obtained by our gallant forces."
The admiral said he was certain the victory would result in the immediate strengthening of the hold we now have on Guadalcanal and the eventual expulsion of the enemy from that strategic island.
The Japs on Guadalcanal, he said, are suffering from the lack of two things: Beans and bullets.
"They have bands of men in the upper reaches of the island with radio equipment, which gives them the advantage of having reports on everything we do, all our plans and ship movements and almost complete data on our operations, and forces," he told newsmen.
"Our problem is to eliminate these observation patrols so we can do something without being seen. We know the enemy is greatly disappointed he didn't get supplies and reinforcements, and he is especially lacking in beans and bullets."
Have Proper Punch
"We know we have plenty of men there, and that they have enough to do the job we set out to do—expel the Japs—and that our men have the proper punch to do it."
For this all-out offensive, the Japs assembled at Rabaul all of the forces they could from powerhouses in the vast western Pacific, the admiral said, adding that "part of this was destined for Guadalcanal and part for New Guinea, but it looks like they were disappointed in both cases."
With a note of optimism, Admiral Nimitz recalled that months ago he mentioned that "we were behind the eight-ball" but now "things are looking up all the time. I don't think we are so close to the eight-ball now. However, we have not reached the stage where we can roam care-free over the ocean."

XMAS STREET LIGHTS WILL NOT BE PLACED

At a special meeting of the directors of the Gettysburg Chamber of Commerce Monday evening, it was decided that Gettysburg "like all of the other neighboring communities" will be without outside Yuletide lights this year as the result of a request made by the War Production Board that illuminated Christmas displays be eliminated in order to conserve current and materials.
Vernon Corle, chairman of the Chamber's special committee on Christmas lighting, who met with the Chamber Monday evening, stated that his committee had contacted various other communities and found the same course of action is being followed and for the same reasons.
Mares Sherman, president of the Gettysburg Chamber of Commerce, said today that "The Chamber regrets the necessity of this action as the members always have felt that the display of those beautiful colored lights during the Yuletide season were a decided attraction and lent much to the spirit of Christmas in our community."
Cooperate With WPB
"However," he continued, "since the War Production Board has issued such a statement it is felt that Gettysburg should cooperate as well as other towns and cities. We will all look forward with high hopes that these Christmas lights will be continued in the coming years."
Prior to the request of the WPB, the Civilian Defense authorities had approved of illuminated displays with the provision that they be so arranged so as to be turned off at a moment's notice in event of an air raid alarm.
It has been suggested that private homes and other buildings use non-illuminated Christmas decorations this year.

UNCONFIRMED REPORTS CITE TUNIS BATTLE

By E. C. DANIEL
London, Nov. 17 (AP)—A German report that British and American motorized forces have reached the southern Tunisian border area suggested today that the Allies might be aiming two armored spearheads into Tunisia, one toward Bizerte and Tunis along the coast, and the other through desert and mountain trails directly toward Tripoli to trap Axis forces in North Africa.
There was no word from Allied sources that the battle yet was joined, but German broadcasts said Nazi planes bombed British and American mobile columns sweeping along the coastal road from Algeria to Bizerte and in the southern border area of Tunisia.
What was meant by the southern border area was not defined, but it was recalled here that as early as the middle of last week an American force from Algeria was reported moving southeast on the Bou-Saada road in the direction of lower Tunisia and a shortcut to Tripoli.
Attack Tunis Airport
In the air and, to a lesser extent, at sea, the battle already was joined as Malta-based planes of the RAF continued to batter at the Axis-held airport near Tunis, but a spokesman at Allied headquarters in North Africa said last night reports of fighting between Allied and Axis troops at Bizerte were premature.
Both Radio Morocco, in Allied controlled Morocco, and Axis stations had reported contact between the opposing forces, readying for a clash which will determine the success of the Allied operation in North Africa and probably settle the future of Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's bedraggled Africa corps, retreating westward in the Libyan desert.
The London Daily Express also said the British and American troops in Tunisia were "reported to be fighting a fierce battle with the Germans near Tunis," but there was no confirmation for the report.
French Fight Boche
French forces in Tunisia already were fighting the Germans and Italians. The American consul at Tunis, who managed to make his way out of the Axis-held city and reach Algeria, said that French troops near Tunis had thrown back German patrols and "the French population is eagerly awaiting the arrival of the Americans."
The consul added that "the large Italian settlement is frightened to death."
French troops apparently were joining the British and American columns speeding to battle as they passed through the Tunisian countryside, a communique from Allied headquarters reporting that "small French military units have begun to cooperate with the eastern and central task forces."
American soldiers, it was reported, have rounded up 350 members of the "uncooperative unguilty pure unwarlike" missions at Orlan, Algiers and Casablanca.

On Monday Draft Board No. 1 at New Oxford sent 45 men to York by bus where they entrained for Fort Meade. That group had been examined at Harrisburg on November 2.
Draft boards may have their December call lists ready to announce by the end of this week, it was stated today.

FINAL PAYMENT MADE ON LIGHTS

The last instalment of $1,000 was paid off on the Gettysburg high school athletic field lights and equipment by the Athletic Council of the school at a meeting Monday evening. With all bills paid, the Council reported a "substantial balance" remaining in the treasury.
Final payment of the $2,800 bill for the football field lights, installed in 1940, marked the completion of a three-year effort on the part of the Council. Purchase and installation of the lights were made possible two years ago by 35 local men and business places who endorsed notes to cover the cost.
At the end of the first season the debt was cut to $1,700 and then the Gettysburg Lions turned over $150 as the proceeds from a benefit play and cut the total to $1,550.
In spite of the short season, hampered by the paralysis epidemic and restrictions, the note was reduced to $1,000 by the end of the 1941 season and at the end of this year's football season there was sufficient money on hand to pay off the notes outstanding in the local banks.

P.I.A.A. Votes To Conduct Annual Basketball Tournament; Maroons Start Drills

4 AMENDMENTS SUBMITTED TO 900 SCHOOLS

By JERRY WEINSTEIN

Harrisburg, Nov. 17 (AP)—Despite war restrictions on travel, the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic association will hold its annual basketball championship tournament in 1943 and will make every effort to conduct similar state-wide events in wrestling, swimming, gymnastics and other major sports.

Adopting a "keep 'em playing" slogan to cooperate with the armed forces in promoting physical development of teen age youth, the PIAA's board of control agreed to speed up its program and to urge more high school students to participate in a large number of athletic activities.

At its annual meeting here yesterday, the board passed four amendments to be submitted to the more than 900 member schools for approval. They call for:

Proposed Changes

1. Prohibition of Sunday interscholastic games.
2. Repeal of the eight-semester rule and the enactment of another stating that a pupil shall not be eligible if he fails to attain promotion from the highest grade in the school and is repeating that grade.

3. Addition of the executive secretary of the Pennsylvania State School Directors association as an advisor on the PIAA board of control (pending additional approval of the school directors group).
4. Granting the board power for the duration and six months thereafter to liberalize the interpretation of eligibility to schools and contestants where necessary to meet war conditions.

Turbolville, Lycoming county; Meyersdale junior high, Somerset county; South Hill high school, Pittsburgh; and Mehoopany, Wyoming county, were granted PIAA membership.

C. L. Walsh of Pittsburgh was elected vice president to replace William C. Evans, Braddock, who resigned to accept an Army captain's commission. Dr. Robert Broyles, Washington, was named to succeed Evans as chairman of District 7 and a member of the board.

LOOKING AROUND

By DON BREAN Sports Editor

All indications point to one of the best Gettysburg-Dickinson football games in some time when the old rivals clash here Saturday afternoon in the 39th renewal of their long series. The Red Devils put on a brilliant show of defensive strength Saturday but dropped a 7-0 decision to Lehigh in the last minutes of play. Lehigh has been rated as one of the strongest teams to represent that school in many years. Dickinson has had a comparatively poor season as far as wins and losses go, winning over Washington and Jefferson while losing to Delaware, Muhlenberg, Western Maryland and Lehigh.

Chambersburg high school's surprise performance in holding the highly-favored Mechanicsburg to a scoreless tie resulted in definitely clinching second place in the Southern Pennsylvania conference for Gettysburg high. The Maroons now have a total of 415 points while Mechanicsburg has 325. Should Mechanicsburg defeat Carlisle in the final game on Thanksgiving Day they will pick up 75 points to boost their total to an even 400 while Carlisle's setback will cost Gettysburg 5 points to make the Maroons' final total 405.

Last week the column picked 15 football winners, six were wrong and three were ties. One game was incorrectly listed due to a change in schedule. The season's totals are: 124 right; 55 wrong and 14 ties.

The football game between Biglerville and Washington Township was moved up until today to avoid conflict with the mileage rationing registration program. Originally the game was listed for Thursday. The game was played at the Washington Township field.

EXELAINS POSTPONEMENT

Philadelphia, Nov. 17 (AP)—Postponement of the effective date of the Office of Defense Transportation's certificate of war necessity program does not change the period in which all commercial vehicles tires must be inspected, the ODT said Sunday. Melvin R. Greene, regional director of the Motor Transport division, said the inspections must be completed between Nov. 15 and Jan. 15, and tires must be inspected every 5,000 miles or 60 days, whichever is completed first.

The name of Prince Rupert, western terminus of the Canadian National Railways, was chosen in a prize contest in which 15,000 participated.

Rose Poly Star Is High Scorer

New York, Nov. 17 (AP)—Eddie McGovern of Rose Poly, apparently has clinched the individual football scoring championship for 1942 piling through six opponents for 165 points before calling it quits for the season.

The 20-year-old halfback collected 30 points Friday as he and his mates blanked Elmhurst, Ill., 48 to 0, in their final game.

Jim Secrest, Rochester university whirlwind, got six touchdowns and an extra point as the New York eleven bruised Hobart, 59 to 0, in its final game and moved next to McGovern with 133 tallies.

Bob Steuber, Missouri halfback, is third and still has three games in which to hike his total above the present 97.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

New York, Nov. 17 (AP)—Notes on a heavy week-end in the sports-writing business:

Friday is light night at the Garden, and sometimes you wonder why you keep going there week after week. Of course you see some good scraps—and some bad ones, but it's one sure place to pick up the odd bit of news or gossip to use in a column. Besides there's some satisfaction in sitting in front of the bigwigs who pay stiff prices for ringside seats. Last Friday there was an undercurrent of excitement as the ringworms discussed Sammy Angott's sudden abdication of the lightweight title and the probable effect upon the Beau Jack-Allie Stolz affair they were about to see and several of them stopped by Boxing Commissioner Phelan's seat right behind you to confirm Sammy's retirement.

The fight was pretty good while it lasted, too. And with some satisfaction you remembered that place a couple of days ago about how different boxing styles made good or bad scraps. Beau Jack rushed into in his own odd way and Allie sank a left jab into his body and that was about what had been expected. But in the fourth, a red blur appeared on Stolz's eye where the unorthodox puncher had landed a clout and from there on about all Allie could do was try to protect himself until the general got up and shouted to the referee, "Call in the doctor." And the fight was over. There was the usual argument afterward with some folks, mostly managers, claiming Stolz wasn't seriously hurt and should have been allowed to continue. The customers didn't get their money's worth, they claimed, but somehow you felt that any bit of serious and a sour ending is better than having some kid's eye permanently injured.

Saturday it was Baker Field for the Yale-Princeton game, with a bitter wind whistling through the almost unprotected press box. You just sat and shook. And pretty soon Dillon Graham came along and asked, "Why is it that down in the south they have steam-heated press boxes while up here where they need heat they don't even plug the cracks in the floor?" You didn't have the answer. Down on the field the wind did some strange tricks with the ball and so did the players, but mostly it was pretty good football, especially when Yale found a weak spot in the right side of the Tiger line and smashed through for two touchdowns and the ball game. As an old guard, the result wasn't pleasing, but still Yale hadn't won for four years and maybe the five-in-a-row jinx is a real one.

Sunday's a hockey night and it seemed queer to be expecting a poor game between the Rangers and Bruins. Always in the past, those meetings had been the season's highspots. But rookies will perform like rookies and they put a lot of action into it even if they did lack skill. And that kid Bill Shill had quite a night with the Bruins. He didn't get in until the second period because his clearance papers hadn't arrived in Canada soon enough. Then he celebrated his pro debut by scoring a goal and wound up with a five-stitch cut on his ankle after smashing into a goalpost.

Monday there was a long subway ride to Van Cortland Park for the IC-A cross country meet and a journeying ride on the tailboard of a truck over the rough trails and shortcuts through the picnic grounds. But that way you saw the whole race and, as someone wise-cracked, got some training for riding in a Jeep. Frank Dixon, a well-built, tan-skinned negro lad from New York U. made a show of the field and you look forward to seeing him again in the winter track meets. He ran some pretty good miles last week.

It was a busy week-end, all right, but there's nothing doing for a few days now and you wonder what you'll write about until the next one comes along.

BIG TEN NOT SEEKING BIDS TO BOWL GAMES

New York, Nov. 17 (AP)—That interesting point in the football season, when most of the talk swings to bowls and bowl opponents, is here again but it's just so much chatter to the folks around the Big Ten conference, where they play their games in season and quit when December rolls around.

Another in the Big Ten weekly series is on tap for Saturday when mighty Michigan, which lambasted Notre Dame, 32-20, last week, takes on Ohio State, a team that humbled powerful Illinois, 44-20. It will renew a rivalry that has drawn more than a million fans in the last 15 years and might go a long way toward settling the conference championship.

Gophers Vs. Badgers

Minnesota, 27-7, conqueror of Iowa meets Wisconsin, which tripped Northwestern, 20-19, after losing to Iowa the previous week. A third game in the last full week of Big Ten plays sends Indiana against Purdue while Northwestern meets Notre Dame and Illinois tests Great Lakes Naval, 24-0 victor over Marquette, in non-conference games.

In the east, where there seems to be nobody left with enough power to find out just how good Boston college really is, Ivy league and intercollegiate battles will highlight Saturday's play. After crushing Fordham, 56-6, Boston college meets lightly regarded Boston university in its next-to-last game of what looks like a perfect season.

Harvard, fresh from a 7-0 victory over Brown, has its annual Ivy-clad argument with Yale, which dumped Princeton, 13-6. Princeton plays Army, back on the winning side with a 19-7 win over Virginia Tech. Dartmouth tangles with Columbia in another eastern headliner and Fordham and Temple entertain intercollegiate foes who played a 6-6 tie last Saturday. Missouri will be at Fordham and Oklahoma at Temple. After surprising Pennsylvania, 13-7, Penn State takes on Pitt.

Georgia Vs. Auburn

Like Boston college, Georgia Tech of the Southeastern conference draws a breather this week but its co-leading neighbor, Georgia, may have things a little tougher. Georgia Tech, which kept its record clean by blanking Alabama, 7-0, has Florida as its opponent, while Georgia, 40-0 winner over Chattanooga, smacks into an Auburn team that walloped Louisiana State, 25-7.

Other southeastern headliners find Alabama meeting Vanderbilt and Kentucky playing Tennessee. Duke and North Carolina State tangle in the southern loop's best offering as unbeaten but one-tied William and Mary steps out for a fling at North Carolina pre-flight. Texas Christian, which left the Southwest conference a three-way possibility by stopping Texas, 13-7, meets Rice in one of two loop tilts. The other sends Baylor, which lost to unbeaten-untied Tulsa, 24-0, against Southern Methodist.

U.C.L.A., still in position to overhaul Washington State for the Pacific Coast conference lead, meets a Washington team that held St. Mary's Pre-Flight to a scoreless draw. Stanford, which trounced Oregon State, 49-13, moves on against California, 13-0 winner over Montana, while Oregon faces Oregon State in a third loop tilt.

Supply Good For 3-Day Bear Season

Harrisburg, Nov. 17 (AP)—The Game commission today predicted "a sizeable army" of hunters will participate tomorrow in opening of the three-day Pennsylvania black bear season.

"We believe the supply is as good as last year when 593 bears were killed," the commission reported. "Prospects for a large kill are very good."

Director Seth Gordon warned hunters that bears killed must be more than one year old. Each hunter is permitted to kill one bear, while a party of three or more is allowed two.

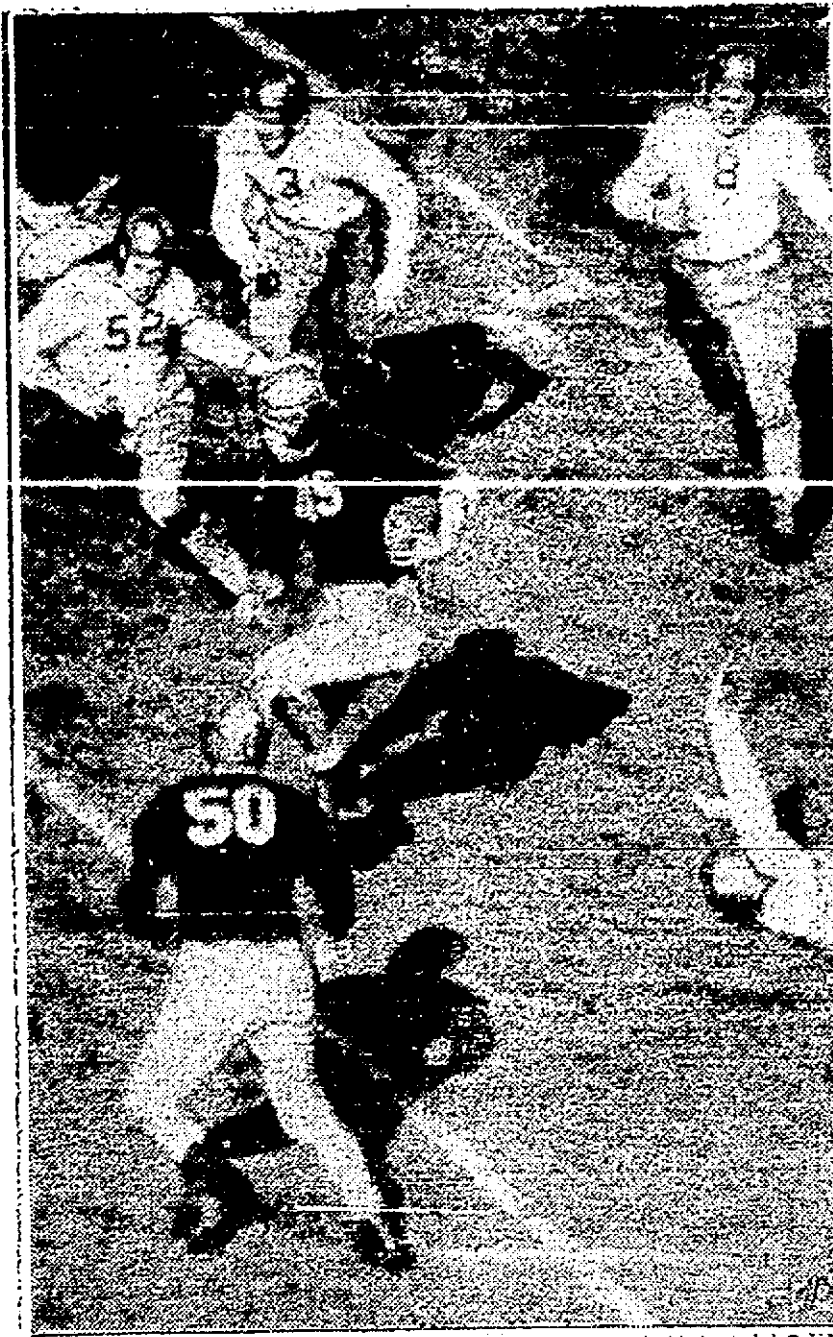

MOVE GOAL LINE

Philadelphia, Nov. 17 (AP)—George Munger, coach of the University of Pennsylvania football team which has been upset on successive week-ends, is campaigning for the placing of the goal line on the 20-yard stripe. "Eleven times in our last two games we have carried beyond the 20 yard line but have been able to score only once," he added ruefully.

GARDEN 'INHERITS' $30,000 Philadelphia, Nov. 17 (AP)—A rock garden "inherits" $30,000 under the will of Mrs. Elizabeth R. F. Glendinning. Mrs. Glendinning established a fund to be used exclusively for the upkeep of a Fairmount park garden planted by her late husband.

The Tugela falls in South Africa drop a vertical distance of more than half a mile.

Eagles' Star Gains Five Yards

Mike Holovak (45), Boston college halfback from Lansford, Pa., goes for a five yard gain around left end in the first period of the Fordham-Boston college game at Boston. Chasing Mike are Fordham's Francis McIntyre (52), George Babich (5), and Joe Yackanich (8). The Eagles faced Fordham, 56 to 6.

Catcher's Mitt Inventor Dies

Philadelphia, Nov. 17 (AP)—Joe Gunson, whose split finger led him to invent a catcher's mitt 54 years ago and thereby change the basic strategy of baseball, died on Sunday at his home here. He was 79.

Catching for the Kansas City Blues of the American association in a Memorial Day doubleheader, Gunson sustained the finger injury and found it necessary to contrive some kind of padding so he could remain in the lineup. He took the flimsy glove then in use, added sheepskin padding, stitched the fingers together and enlarged the thumb.

The "pillow" worked and soon other catchers adopted Gunson's idea. They discovered that with the additional protection they could stand directly back of the batter on every pitch, rather than farther away and wait for the ball to bounce, and batters learned that to bunt was no longer an easy way to reach first.

The invention was popular with the fans, too. Frequently during between-inning rests, Gunson would toss the glove into the stands to be examined by spectators. It now is part of the collection at the National Baseball Museum in Cooperstown, N. Y.

Gunson never profited from or patented his idea. But during later years when he played with Washington, Baltimore, St. Louis and Cleveland, it helped him catch the pitches of such old-time stars as Cy Young, Jack Chesbro, Jim Callahan and "Sadie" McMahon.

Thirty-four years ago Gunson joined the Philadelphia police force, from which he retired in 1932. His widow is the only survivor.

Interstate League To Continue In '43

Harrisburg, Nov. 17 (AP)—The six-club interstate baseball league will continue in 1943 and if possible will increase its membership to eight teams.

President Arthur H. Ehlers, of Baltimore, told a league meeting yesterday that York and Reading, Pa., and Salisbury, Maryland, may be offered franchises. He said other teams, knocked out of minor league organizations because of war restrictions, might be admitted, especially if major league sponsors could be found.

An attempt to eliminate week-end travel to conform with war transportation demands will be made by lengthening inter-club series to four and three games.

Ehlers, who was named to represent the group at the minor league meeting in Chicago next month, announced the circuit's attendance as 501,716 for the 1942 season, an increase of more than 50,000 from the 1941 campaign when eight teams competed.

GEORGIA TEAMS RANK ONE, TWO IN GRID POLL

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

New York, Nov. 17 (AP)—Georgia clung to first place in the Associated Press' poll to determine the nation's best college football team although its share of the first place votes slumped from 76 per cent a week ago to 54 per cent in today's tabulation.

Much of the favoritism switched to Boston college but the Eagles were unable to better their third place rating behind Georgia and Georgia Tech.

Sixty-nine of the 126 voting experts figured the Bulldogs were the best although 85 of 112 had that opinion a week ago before the men of Wally Butts buried Chattanooga, 40 to 0.

However, the 56 to 6 pasting the Bostonians applied to Fordham brought them 37 first place votes in contrast with the 10 last week. Georgia Tech, which downed Alabama, gained points and respect but also lost first place votes in the general swing to the Eagles.

All three top clubs are unbeaten and untied, a situation that may last until the two Georgia Eleventh collide and Boston college meets its arch foe, Holy Cross. The winner of the southern battle and the Eagles have been labeled as prospective foes in the January 1 Sugar Bowl contest.

Michigan rises

Michigan, which beat Notre Dame, vaulted from sixth to fourth place while the Irish skidded from fourth to eighth.

Three other Big Ten clubs in addition to the Wolverines gained rankings in the first tie, Ohio State grabbing fifth place, Wisconsin seventh and Minnesota tenth.

Tulsa, also unbeaten and untied, swirled into sixth after its 24 to 0 victory over highly rated Baylor last Saturday.

Standings of the teams first place votes in parentheses, points figured on 10-9-8-7 etc. basis:

First Ten
Georgia (69)	1171
Georgia Tech (43)	1095
Boston College (37)	1025
Michigan (3)	827
Ohio State (1)	699
Tulsa (2)	539
Wisconsin (2)	498
Notre Dame	279
Alabama	266
Minnesota	150
Second Ten
11-Tennessee 155; 12-Washington State (1) 74; 13-William and Mary 60; 14 for 14th and 15th, Santa Clara and Texas 54; 16-Southern California 19; 17-Hardin-Simmons 18; triple tie for 18, 19 and 20-Indiana, University of California at Los Angeles and Texas Christian 16.
Also ran: Stanford 15; Mississippi State 11; Illinois 7; Amherst 4; Iowa 3; Penn State 2; Baylor, Missouri and Army 1 each.
In 1922 American farmers raised 5,000,000 bushels of soy beans. The 1942 crop is 200,000,000 bushels.

CARRIERS TOP MILLION-MARK IN STAMP SALES

The Gettysburg Times newsboys and newsgirl have sold more than a million ten-cent War Stamps in 48 weeks.

At the close of last week's sales the 19 youths had disposed of 1,016,670 stamps.

This record pushes The Gettysburg Times carriers high in the newspaper campaign in the percentage of sales according to the population of the area covered.

With the exception of National Newspaper Boy Day last October 3, the sales for last week reached the second largest total for 7 days since the campaign started. The large sale last week was made possible by a Gettysburg friend of the newspaper carriers who purchased a large block of stamps and divided the total equally among all the boys and girl.

Giving More Time

Today The Times carriers are giving more time than ever to the sale of ten-cent War Stamps and the most recent compilation shows that these defense agents of the United States Treasury department are everything they are called in Washington, "Agents for Victory."

Thirteen-year-old Henry Hershey, of Cashtown, continues to lead the entire group with 140,802 stamps sold. Close behind the leader is Luther Smith, Gettysburg, with the sale of 140,583 stamps. C. Arthur Brame, Jr., continues to rank third with a total sale of 98,222 stamps.

Two new names appear in the list of leaders for the sales last week. The one is Robert Kime, who is in first place with a sale of 8,333 stamps. He covers Bendersville; 100 per cent. The second new leader is James Munshower, who has a bicycle route out of Gettysburg daily. He sold 7,270 stamps last week. Third place goes to young Brame, of Lincolnway east, with a total sale of 6,345 stamps.

Two New Carriers

Two newcomers have joined. The Times newsboy staff and have pledged their allegiance to the United States government to act as official defense agents. One is E. Richard Hartlaub, who covers a Gettysburg route. He succeeds Robert Coffield, Richard has sold 4,094 stamps in two weeks. The other new carrier is Charles Layver, who serves the Munnasburg route. 'Turkey' Thompson To Fight Dorazio Tonight

Philadelphia, Nov. 17 (AP)—Elbert Sylvester "Turkey" Thompson of Los Angeles—sometimes called the five-by-five man because he looks almost as wide as he is long—makes his debut in eastern boxing tonight, a 2½ to 1 favorite to gobble Gus Dorazio out of the Arena ring.

The Turkey, a tough bird who has won 25 out of his 38 fights by kayoes, whipped Dorazio in Oakland, Calif., October 7 by a technical knockout in the second round. Gus said later he could have carried the Turk effectively in a few more stanzas if he had been allowed to continue, so Promoter Herman Taylor arranged a rematch.

Thompson, a negro, was expected to weigh in at about 200 pounds and the Philadelphia at 155.

The colored crasher is five foot eight, with shoulders way out here. His arms stretch 73 inches although Bob Pastor, one of the few who have licked him, just misses the six-foot class and has a reach of only 70 inches.

Among the Turkey's victims are Bandit Romero, Tommy Martin, Buddy Knox, Henry Cooper and Pat Valentine. He couldn't layo Ample Abe Simon, who stayed the limit with him and got a draw. He couldn't even knock Abe off his feet, but his manager, Col Working, pointed out that Simon had a 50-pound weight edge on him and "it looked like a midget trying to knock down city hall."

P.I.A.A. Votes To Conduct Annual Basketball Tournament; Maroons Start Drills

4 AMENDMENTS SUBMITTED TO 900 SCHOOLS

By JERRY WEINSTEIN

Harrisburg, Nov. 17 (AP)—Despite war restrictions on travel, the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic association will hold its annual basketball championship tournament in 1943 and will make every effort to conduct similar state-wide events in wrestling, swimming, gymnastics and other major sports.

Adopting a "keep 'em playing" slogan to cooperate with the armed forces in promoting physical development of teen age youth, the PIAA's board of control agreed to speed up its program and to urge more high school students to participate in a large number of athletic activities.

At its annual meeting here yesterday, the board passed four amendments to be submitted to the more than 900 member schools for approval. They call for:

Proposed Changes

1. Prohibition of Sunday interscholastic games.
2. Repeal of the eight-semester rule and the enactment of another stating that a pupil shall not be eligible if he fails to attain promotion from the highest grade in the school and is repeating that grade.
3. Addition of the executive secretary of the Pennsylvania State School Directors association as an advisor on the PIAA board of control (pending additional approval of the school directors group).
4. Granting the board power for the duration and six months thereafter to liberalize the interpretation of eligibility to schools and contestants where necessary to meet war conditions.

Turbottville, Lycoming county; Meyersdale junior high, Somerset county; South Hill high school, Pittsburgh; and Mehoopany, Wyoming county, were granted PIAA memberships.

C. L. Walsh of Pittsburgh was elected vice president to replace William C. Evans, Braddock, who resigned to accept an Army captain's commission. Dr. Robert Broyles, Washington, was named to succeed Evans as chairman of District 7 and a member of the board.

LOOKING AROUND

By DON BREAN
Sports Editor

All indications point to one of the best Gettysburg-Dickinson football games in some time when the old rivals clash here Saturday afternoon in the 39th renewal of their long series. The Red Devils put on a brilliant show of defensive strength Saturday but dropped a 7-0 decision to Lehigh in the last minutes of play. Lehigh has been rated as one of the strongest teams to represent that school in many years. Dickinson has had a comparatively poor season as far as wins and losses go, winning over Washington and Jefferson while losing to Delaware, Muhlenberg, Western Maryland and Lehigh.

Chambersburg high school's surprise performance in holding the highly-favored Mechanicsburg to a scoreless tie resulted in definitely clinching second place in the Southern Pennsylvania conference for Gettysburg high. The Maroons now have a total of 415 points while Mechanicsburg has 325. Should Mechanicsburg defeat Carlisle in the final game on Thanksgiving Day they will pick up 75 points to boost their total to an even 400 while Carlisle's setback will cost Gettysburg 5 points to make the Maroons' final total 405.

Last week the column picked 15 football winners, six were wrong and three were ties. One game was incorrectly listed due to a change in schedule. The season's totals are: 124 right; 55 wrong and 14 ties.

The football game between Biglerville and Washington Township was moved up until today to avoid conflict with the mileage rationing registration program. Originally the game was listed for Thursday. The game was played at the Washington Township field.

EXPLAINS POSTPONEMENT

Philadelphia, Nov. 17 (AP)—Postponement of the effective date of the Office of Defense Transportation's certificate of war necessity program does not change the period in which all commercial vehicles tires must be inspected, the ODT said Sunday. Melvin R. Greene, regional director of the Motor Transport division, said the inspections must be completed between Nov. 15 and Jan. 15, and tires must be reinspected every 5,000 miles or 60 days, whichever is completed first.

The name of Prince Rupert, western terminus of the Canadian National Railways, was chosen in a prize contest in which 15,000 participated.

Rose Poly Star Is High Scorer

New York, Nov. 17 (AP)—Eddie McGovern of Rose Poly, apparently has clinched the individual football scoring championship for 1942 piling through six opponents for 165 points before calling it quits for the season.

The 20-year-old halfback collected 30 points Friday as he and his mates blanked Elmhurst, Ill., 48 to 0, in their final game.

Jim Seerest, Rochester university whirlwind, got six touchdowns and an extra point as the New York eleven bruised Hobart, 59 to 0, in its final game and moved next to McGovern with 133 tallies.

Bob Steuber, Missouri halfback, is third and still has three games in which to hike his total above the present 97.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

New York, Nov. 17 (AP)—Notes on a heavy week-end in the sports-writing business:

Friday is fight night at the Garden, and sometimes you wonder why you keep going there week after week. Of course you see some good scraps—and some bad ones, but it's one sure place to pick up the odd bit of news or gossip to use in a column. Besides there's some satisfaction of sitting in front of the bigwigs who pay stiff prices for ringside seats. Last Friday there was an undercurrent of excitement as the ringworms discussed Sammy Angott's sudden abdication of the lightweight title and the probable effect upon the Beau Jack-Allie Stolz affair they were about to see and several of them, stopped by Boxing Commissioner Phelan's seat right behind you to confirm Sammy's retirement.

The fight was pretty good while it lasted, too. And with some satisfaction you remembered that piece a couple of days ago about how different boxing styles made good or bad scraps. Beau Jack rushed out in his own odd way and Allie sank a left deep into his body and that was about what had been expected. But in the fourth a red blur appeared on Stolz's eye where the unorthodox puncher had landed a clout and from there on to all Allie could do was try to protect himself until the general got up and shouted to the referee, "Call in the doctor." There was the usual argument afterward with some folks, mostly managers, claiming Stolz wasn't seriously hurt and should have been allowed to continue. The customers didn't get their money's worth, they claimed, but somehow you felt that any cut is serious and a sour ending is better than having some kid's eye permanently injured.

Saturday it was Baker Field for the Yale-Princeton game, with a bitter wind whistling through the almost unprotected press box. You just sat there and shook. And pretty soon Dillon Graham came along and asked, "Why is it that down in the south they have steam-heated press boxes while up here where they need heat they don't even plug the cracks in the floor?" You didn't have the answer.

Down on the field the wind did some strange tricks with the ball and so did the players, but mostly it was pretty good football, especially when Yale found a weak spot in the right side of the Tiger line and smashed through for two touchdowns and the ball game. As an old grad, the result wasn't pleasing, but still Yale hadn't won for four years and maybe the five-in-a-row jinx is a real one.

Sunday's a hockey night and it seemed queer to be expecting a poor game between the Rangers and Bruins. Always in the past those meetings had been the season's highlights. But rookies will perform like rookies and they put a lot of action into it even if they did lack skill. And that kid Bill Shill had quite a night with the Bruins. He didn't get in until the second period because his clearance papers hadn't arrived in Canada soon enough. Then he celebrated his pro debut by scoring a goal and wound up with a five-stitch cut on his ankle after smashing into a goalpost.

Monday there was a long subway ride to Van Cortlandt Park for the IC-4-A cross country meet and a jaunting ride on the tailboard of a truck over the rough trails and shortcuts through the picnic grounds. But that way you saw the whole race and, as someone wisecracked, got some training for riding in a jeep. Frank Dixon, a well-built, tan-skinned negro lad from New York U. made a show of the field and you look forward to seeing him again in the winter track meets. He ran some pretty good miles last winter.

It was a busy week-end, all right, but there's nothing doing for a few days now and you wonder what you'll write about until the next one comes along.

BIG TEN NOT SEEKING BIDS TO BOWL GAMES

New York, Nov. 17 (AP)—That interesting point in the football season, when most of the talk swings to bowls and bowl opponents, is here again but it's just so much chatter to the folks around the Big Ten conference, where they play their games in season and quit when December rolls around.

Another in the Big Ten weekly series is on tap for Saturday when mighty Michigan, which lambasted Notre Dame, 32-20, last week, takes on Ohio State, a team that humbled powerful Illinois, 44-20. It will renew a rivalry that has drawn more than a million fans in the last 15 years and might go a long way toward settling the conference championship.

Gophers Vs. Badgers

Minnesota, 27-7, conqueror of Iowa meets Wisconsin, which tripped Northwestern, 20-19, after losing to Iowa the previous week. A third game in the last full week of Big Ten plays sends Indiana against Purdue while Northwestern meets Notre Dame and Illinois tests Great Lakes Naval, 24-0 victor over Marquette, in non-conference games.

In the east, where there seems to be nobody left with enough power to find out just how good Boston college really is, Ivy league and inter-sectional battles will highlight Saturday's play. After crushing Fordham, 56-6, Boston college meets lightly regarded Boston university in its next-to-last game of what looks like a perfect season.

Harvard, fresh from a 7-0 victory over Brown, has its annual Ivy-clad argument with Yale, which dumped Princeton, 13-6. Princeton plays Army, last on the winning side with a 18-7 win over Virginia Tech.

mouth tangles with Columbia in another eastern headliner and Fordham and Temple entertain inter-sectional foes who played a 6-6 tie last Saturday. Missouri will be at Fordham and Oklahoma at Temple. After surprising Pennsylvania, 13-7, Penn State takes on Pitt.

Georgia Vs. Auburn

Like Boston college, Georgia Tech of the Southeastern conference draws a breather this week but its co-leading neighbor, Georgia, may have things a little tougher. Georgia Tech, which kept its record clean by blanking Alabama, 7-0, has Florida as its opponent, while Georgia, 40-0 winner over Chattanooga, smacks into an Auburn team that walloped Louisiana State, 25-7.

Other southeastern headlines find Alabama meeting Vanderbilt and Kentucky playing Tennessee. Duke and North Carolina State tangle in the southern loop's best offering as unbeaten but one-tied William and Mary steps out for a fling at North Carolina pre-flight.

Texas Christian, which left the Southwest conference a three-way possibility by stopping Texas, 13-7, meets Rice in one of two loop tilts. The other sends Baylor, which lost to unbeaten-untied Tulsa, 24-0, against Southern Methodist.

UCLA, still in position to overhaul Washington State for the Pacific Coast conference lead, meets a Washington team that held St. Mary's Pre-Flight to a scoreless draw. Stanford, which trounced Oregon State, 49-13, moves in against California, 13-0 winner over Montana, while Oregon faces Oregon State in a third loop tilt.

Supply Good For 3-Day Bear Season

Harrisburg, Nov. 17 (AP)—The Game commission today predicted "a sizeable army" of hunters will participate tomorrow in opening of the three-day Pennsylvania black bear season.

"We believe the supply is as good as last year when 593 bears were killed," the commission reported. "Prospects for a large kill are very good."

Director Seth Gordon warned hunters that bears killed must be more than one year old. Each hunter is permitted to kill one bear, while a party of three or more is allowed two.

MOVIE GOAL LINE?

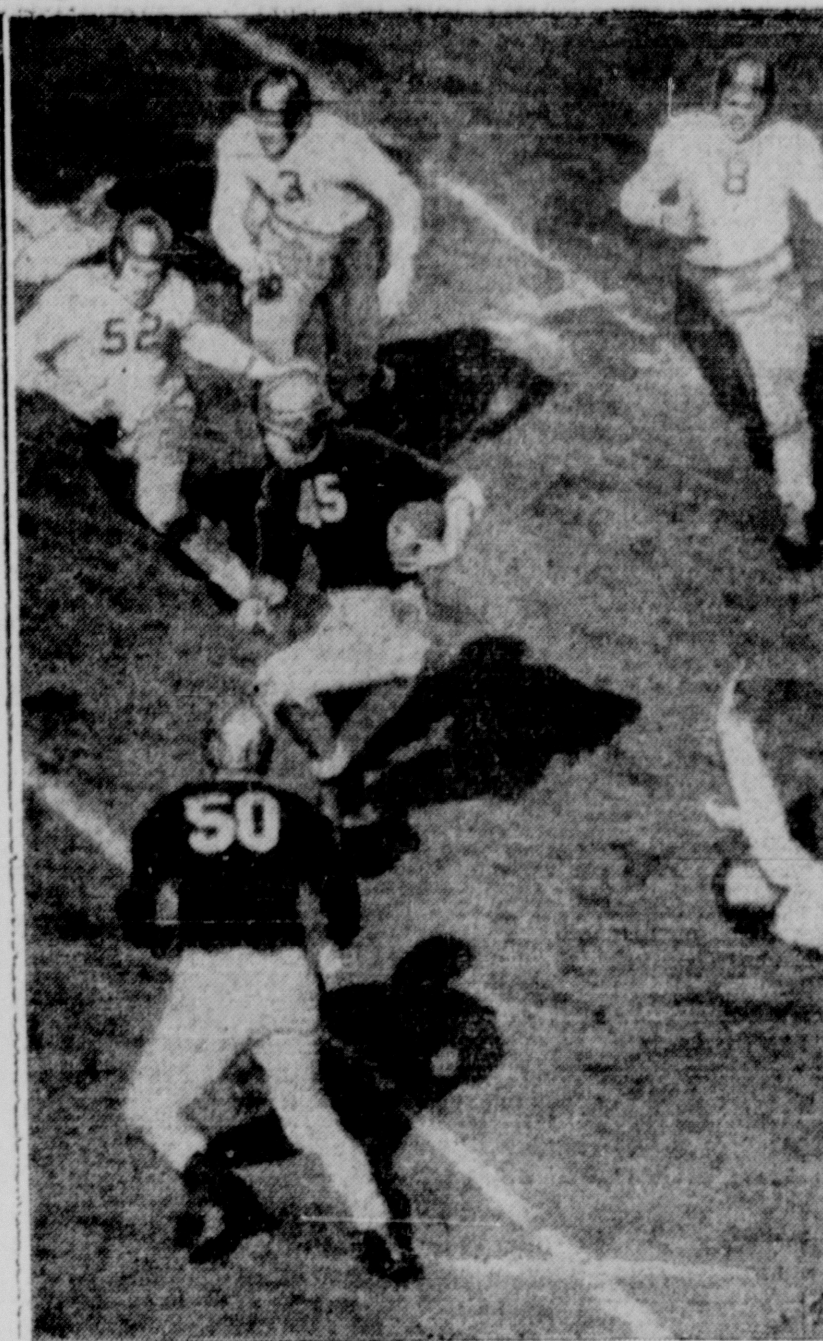

Philadelphia, Nov. 17 (AP)—George Munger, coach of the University of Pennsylvania football team which has been upset on successive week-ends, is campaigning for the placing of the goal line on the 20-yard stripe. "Eleven times in our last two games we have carried beyond the 20 yard line but have been able to score only once," he added ruefully.

GARDEN "INHERITS" $30,000

Philadelphia, Nov. 17 (AP)—A rock garden "inherits" $30,000 under the will of Mrs. Elizabeth R. F. Glendinning. Mrs. Glendinning established a fund to be used exclusively for the upkeep of a Fairmount park garden planted by her late husband.

The Tugela falls in South Africa drop a vertical distance of more than half a mile.

Eagles' Star Gains Five Yards

Mike Holovak (45), Boston college halfback from Lansford, Pa., goes for a five yard gain around left end in the first period of the Fordham-Boston college game at Boston. Chasing Mike are Fordham's Francis McIntyre (52), George Babich (3) and Joe Yackanich (8). The Eagles laced Fordham, 56 to 6.

Catcher's Mitt Inventor Dies

Philadelphia, Nov. 17 (AP)—Joe Gunson, whose split finger led him to invent a catcher's mitt 54 years ago and thereby change the basic strategy of baseball, died on Sunday at his home here. He was 79.

Catching for the Kansas City Blues of the American association in a Memorial Day doubleheader, Gunson sustained the finger injury and found it necessary to contrive some kind of padding so he could remain in the lineup. Gunson never profited from or patented his idea. But during later years when he played with Washington, Baltimore, St. Louis and Cleveland, it helped him catch the pitches of such old-time stars as Cy Young, Jack Chesbro, Jim Callahan and "Sadie" McMahon.

Thirty-four years ago Gunson joined the Philadelphia police force, from which he retired in 1932. His widow is the only survivor.

Interstate League To Continue In '43

Harrisburg, Nov. 17 (AP)—The six-club interstate baseball league will continue in 1943 and if possible, will increase its membership to eight teams.

President Arthur H. Ehlers, of Baltimore, told a league meeting yesterday that York and Reading, Pa., and Salisbury, Maryland, may be offered franchises. He said other teams, knocked out of minor league organizations because of war restrictions, might be admitted, especially if major league sponsors could be found.

An attempt to eliminate week-end travel to conform with war transportation demands will be made by lengthening inter-club series to four and three games.

Ehlers, who was named to represent the group at the minor league meeting in Chicago next month, announced the circuit's attendance as 501,716 for the 1942 season, an increase of more than 50,000 from the 1941 campaign when eight teams competed.

Lancaster, Harrisburg, Allentown, Wilmington, Delaware, and Hagerstown, Maryland, sent delegates to the meeting. Ehlers represented Trenton, which was chosen for the annual meeting the second Monday in February.

'Turkey' Thompson To Fight Dorazio Tonight

Philadelphia, Nov. 17 (AP)—Eliot Sylvester "Turkey" Thompson of Los Angeles—sometimes called the five-by-five man because he looks almost as wide as he is long—makes his debut in eastern boxing tonight, a 2½ to 1 favorite to gobble Gus Dorazio out of the Arena ring.

The Turkey, a tough bird who has won 25 out of his 38 fights by kayoes, whipped Dorazio in Oakland, Calif., October 7 by a technical knockout in the second round. Gus said later he could have carved the Turk effectively in a few more stanzas if he had been allowed to continue, so Promoter Hernian Taylor arranged a rematch.

Thompson, a negro, was expected to weigh in at about 200 pounds and the Philadelphia at 195.

The colored crasher is five foot eight, with shoulders way out here. His arms stretch 73 inches although Bob Pastor, one of the few who have licked him, just misses the six-foot class and has a reach of only 70 inches.

Among the Turkey's victims are Bandit Romero, Tommy Martin, Buddy Knox, Henry Cooper and Pat Valentine. He couldn't kayo Ample Abe Simon, who stayed the limit with him and got a draw. He couldn't even knock Abe off his feet, but his manager, Cal Working, pointed out that Simon had a 50-pound weight edge on him and "it looked like a midget trying to knock down city hall."

COUNTY LOOP TO CONTINUE WITH 3 TEAMS

The Adams County Scholastic Basketball league will function as a three-team circuit this season it was decided at a meeting of the league representatives here Monday evening.

Arendtsville, East Berlin and New Oxford have decided to continue with the circuit. A schedule will be announced in the near future.

Fairfield high will not participate in the league but will be represented by a team. Fairfield officials felt they did not care to tie themselves down to a definite league schedule due to transportation difficulties and decided to play an independent schedule on dates transportation is available. Littlestown was not represented at the meeting and it was assumed it will not participate in the league.

Robert Noll, Biglerville, president of the league, presided at the meeting.

SAYS YANKEES HAVE PUNCH TO WIPE OUT JAPS

By WALTER B. CLAUSEN
Pearl Harbor, T. H., Nov. 17 (AP)—Japan's naval hordes swept down on the Solomon Islands to disaster in their all-out effort to smash American power in the south Pacific.

When full details of those three short but fiery engagements north-west of Guadalcanal on Nov. 13-15 become known, they will tell a story of not only the greatest naval battles ever staged at night, but also of the fiercest slugging combats in all naval history.

It was a most costly demonstration to Japan that not only have American forces complete control of the land, sea and sky there, but also they have the force to carry on an offensive.

"I think they brought everything they had," said Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, commander-in-chief of the Pacific fleet, significantly.

Major Victory

"As a result, all the enemy forces were either destroyed or driven back, and a major victory was obtained by our gallant forces."

The admiral said he was certain the victory would result in the immediate strengthening of the hold we now have on Guadalcanal and the eventual expulsion of the enemy from that strategic island.

The Japs on Guadalcanal, he said, are suffering from the lack of two things: Beans and bullets.

"They have bands of men in the upper reaches of the island with radio equipment, which gives them the advantage of having reports on everything we do, all our plans and ship movements and almost complete data on our operations, and forces," he told newsmen.

"Our problem is to eliminate these observation patrols so we can do something without being seen. We know the enemy is greatly disappointed he didn't get supplies and reinforcements, and he is especially lacking in beans and bullets."

Have Proper Punch

"We know we have plenty of men there, and that they have enough to do the job we set out to do—expel the Japs—and that our men have the proper punch to do it."

For this all-out offensive, the Japs assembled at Rabaul all of the forces they could from powerhouses in the vast western Pacific, the admiral said, adding that "part of this was destined for Guadalcanal and part for New Guinea, but it looks like they were disappointed in both cases."

With a note of optimism, Admiral Nimitz recalled that months ago he mentioned that "we were behind the eight-ball" but now "things are looking up all the time. I don't think we are so close to the eight-ball now. However, we have not reached the stage where we can roam care-free over the ocean."

XMAS STREET LIGHTS WILL NOT BE PLACED

At a special meeting of the directors of the Gettysburg Chamber of Commerce Monday evening, it was decided that Gettysburg "like all of the other neighboring communities" will be without outside Yuletide lights this year as the result of a request made by the War Production Board that illuminated Christmas displays be eliminated in order to conserve current and materials.

Vernon Corle, chairman of the Chamber's special committee on Christmas lighting, who met with the Chamber Monday evening, stated that his committee had contacted various other communities and found the same course of action is being followed and for the same reasons.

Mares Sherman, president of the Gettysburg Chamber of Commerce, said today that "The Chamber regrets the necessity of this action as the members always have felt that the display of those beautiful colored lights during the Yuletide season were a decided attraction and lent much to the spirit of Christmas in our community."

Cooperate With WPB

"However," he continued, "since the War Production Board has issued such a statement it is felt that Gettysburg should cooperate as well as other towns and cities. We will all look forward with high hopes that these Christmas lights will be continued in the coming years."

Prior to the request of the WPB, the Civilian Defense authorities had approved of illuminated displays with the provision that they be so arranged so as to be turned off at a moment's notice in event of an air raid alarm.

It has been suggested that private homes and other buildings use non-illuminated Christmas decorations this year.

UNCONFIRMED REPORTS CITE TUNIS BATTLE

By E. C. DANIEL
London, Nov. 17 (AP)—A German report that British and American motorized forces have reached the southern Tunisian border area suggested today that the Allies might be aiming two armored spearheads into Tunisia, one toward Bizerte and Tunis along the coast, and the other through desert and mountain trails directly toward Tripoli to trap Axis forces in North Africa.

There was no word from Allied sources that the battle yet was joined, but German broadcasts said Nazi planes bombed British and American mobile columns sweeping along the coastal road from Algeria to Bizerte and in the southern border area of Tunisia.

What was meant by the southern border area was not defined, but it was recalled here that as early as the middle of last week an American force from Algeria was reported moving southeast on the Bou-Saada road in the direction of lower Tunisia and a shortcut to Tripoli.

Attack Tunis Airport
In the air and, to a lesser extent, at sea, the battle already was joined as Malta-based planes of the RAF continued to batter at the Axis-held airport near Tunis, but a spokesman at Allied headquarters in North Africa said last night reports of fighting between Allied and Axis troops at Bizerte were premature.

Both Radio Morocco, in Allied controlled Morocco, and Axis stations had reported contact between the opposing forces, readying for a clash which will determine the success of the Allied operation in North Africa and probably settle the future of Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's beleaguered Africa corps, retreating westward in the Libyan desert.

The London Daily Express also said the British and American troops in Tunisia were "reported to be fighting a fierce battle with the Germans near Tunis," but there was no confirmation for the report.

French Fight Boche
French forces in Tunisia already were fighting the Germans and Italians. The American consul at Tunis, who managed to make his way out of the Axis-held city and reach Algeria, said that French troops near Tunis had thrown back German patrols and "the French population is eagerly awaiting the arrival of the Americans."

The consul added that "the large Italian settlement is frightened to death."

French troops apparently were joining the British and American columns speeding to battle as they passed through the Tunisian countryside, a communique from Allied headquarters reporting that "small French military units have begun to cooperate with the eastern and central task forces."

American soldiers, it was reported, have rounded up 250 members of the "unco conspirators" and "unco conspirators" at Orlan, Algiers and Casablanca.

The men had passed final Army physical examinations at Harrisburg on November 3 and were immediately granted 14-day leaves of absence. Hereafter seven-day leaves will be allowed.

On Monday Draft Board No. 1 at New Oxford sent 45 men to York by bus where they entrained for Fort Meade. That group had been examined at Harrisburg on November 2.

FINAL PAYMENT MADE ON LIGHTS

The last instalment of $1,000 was paid off on the Gettysburg high school athletic field lights and equipment by the Athletic Council of the school at a meeting Monday evening. With all bills paid, the Council reported a "substantial balance" remaining in the treasury.

Final payment of the $2,800 bill for the football field lights, installed in 1940, marked the completion of a three-year effort on the part of the Council. Purchase and installation of the lights were made possible two years ago by 35 local men and business places who ordered notes to cover the cost.

At the end of the first season the debt was cut to $1,700 and then the Gettysburg Lions turned over $150 as the proceeds from a benefit play and cut the total to $1,550.

In spite of the short season, hampered by the paralysis epidemic and restrictions, the note was reduced to $1,000 by the end of the 1941 season and at the end of this year's football season there was sufficient money on hand to pay off the notes outstanding in the local banks.

Just Folks

By Edgar A. Guest

TYRANT PEACE TERMS

And is it worth the price we pay?

Just look at Norway's plight today.

And France and Holland and the Czechs.

With tyrant yokes about their necks.

Or think of something worse, perhaps.

Our women in the power of Japs.

Should freedom lose its final stand,

Horror will stalk throughout the land.

Remember Lydce? They came

And put the lovely place to flame;

Slaughtered its people, one and all.

The old, the young, the babies small.

They've left no hope; no way for us

Of compromising to discuss.

They've made it plain in starving Greece

How gruesome are their terms of peace.

They've boasted that our land shall see

More than one shattered Lydce.

They've left no easier way to choose,

No doubt of "what if we should lose."

They've shown in Poland and in France

How they subdue where they advance.

They've shown us all too well the cost

If ever should this war be lost.

Today's Talk

By George Matthew Adams

THE INTERIOR LIFE

We disparage so many as to their way of life. What is it to us that one of our friends chooses to remain quite silent—communing with himself, with Nature, or with God—in search of his own soul?

What is it to us that another decides that his happiness lies in exterior pursuits, in adventure, discovery, or in mere wandering—for the pure joy of the thing? This is a big world—too big for many, who only know the path to their own door from day to day, and who relish only a comfortable bed at nightfall.

How far man is from even solving the merest problem of man himself! The interior life doesn't solve many things—if any. But there it is that the spiritual forces of character germinate, interfuse, and give substance to the mind and to the heart. Thoreau transferred his great love of beauty and for all things in Nature, to the inner communion of his heart. He found companionship in the interior life into his own. And yet few if any of us can accomplish such a task with anyone.

On the other hand, this interior life that so many lead has a great influence on the world. Thoreau transferred much of his to his journals, which he kept ever at hand, and then to books, which yearly gain more world-wide interest and influence.

How we cherish the firsts in life! The first consciousness of things, of the first thrill of love, of the first genuine friend, of the first journey upon the sea, of the first song of some rare bird. These we hide away in our interior "hope chest" to soften and comfort our lonelier moments after storms of discouragement of left bereft upon some sea of sorrow. Much of what we do in life belongs to others, but what we bank and preserve in our interior consciousness is ours and ours alone.

That prayer, which is uttered alone, and in secret, is the prayer that reaches the unseen source in its sincerest form. It is the interior life lifting the shades and letting God look in.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "The Make-Up Of A Man."

Leaders

CLOTURE MAY

BE VOTED TO

BREAK TANGLE

Washington, Nov. 17 (AP)—Opponents of a bill to abolish state poll taxes openly challenged administration leaders to a test of strength today with a move to invoke the seldom-used cloture rule limiting Senate debate.

As Democratic Leader Barkley of Kentucky maneuvered to take up the bill at a time when his motion itself would not be debatable, Senator George (D-Ga.) told reporters he had no doubt an attempt eventually would be made to obtain cloture.

"I think it would suit us all right if they went ahead and tried it," George said. "I don't believe the Senate would vote for cloture."

This drastic rule, last invoked in February, 1927, when the Senate was considering a bill to create a bureau of customs and prohibition, would bar any member from speaking more than an hour on the bill under consideration.

Time-Killers

The southerners turned today to the summary of yesterday's proceedings as prepared by the Senate journal clerk to find new time-killing devices to forestall action.

Senator Doxey (D-Miss) said the group would insist upon the reading of the journal, usually dispensed with by unanimous consent.

Yesterday the chamber turned up something new for the record books, a filibuster without the usual long speeches.

Southern senators provided enough parliamentary pyrotechnics to stave off Barkley's motion to bring up the bill in a two and a half hour session which found Barkley himself making the longest speech—25 minutes.

Consequently, opponents gained a calendar day in their fight to strangle the measure, which dies automatically if not passed before December 31.

A delaying action by southern senators included nine quorum calls, taking from six to 13 minutes each, keeping Barkley from making his motion until 2:05 p. m., when it became subject to debate. His subsequent move for adjournment, at 2:30 p. m., meant that the Senate must start all over again today.

HERSHEY READY

FOR DIPLOMATS

Hershey, Pa., Nov. 17 (AP)—Still awaiting definite word from the State department, officials of the $1,000,000 Hershey hotel prepared today for the arrival of the Vichy French embassy staff from Washington.

"We have had no definite word from the State department about sending the Vichy diplomats here," a spokesman commented. "We were still receiving guests last night."

"However, if the State department contacts us and the Vichy representatives are sent here we will receive them. Our other guests will be asked to leave."

The State department had announced that Gaston Henry-Haye, former French ambassador, and his staff would be sent to the hotel to await exchange for American diplomats in France.

The 175-room hotel was built in 1933 on a hill at the foot of the Blue Ridge mountains and overlooking the town founded in 1905 by Milton S. Hershey, 85-year-old industrialist.

Flashes of Life

PREMATURE

Philadelphia—At 10:20 a. m. air raid sirens screamed throughout Philadelphia for a surprise drill. At 10:21 a. m. a man telephoned the Municipal Electrical bureau and asked excitedly: "Is the war over?"

LIVELY ANTIQUE

Kansas City—Singer James Melton, who collects antique automobiles, heard about the 1922 model electric that Mrs. Sidney J. Montgomery drives about Kansas City streets. He decided he wanted it. Snapped Mrs. Montgomery: "My car is not an antique. I would like Mr. Melton to know that." It can still do a snappy 25 miles an hour. "And that's too fast for me."

GUN SHY

Camp Gruber, Okla. — Private Bud Chapman of Chillicothe, Missouri, a rifle range instructor, has shot an old legend full of holes. He has some Tennessee mountain boys in his classes. Many of them never have fired a gun before.

A BIRD IN THE HAND

Royal, Ill.—George Carl had a run of bad luck after he shot a pheasant near here. After carrying the bird half a mile, he tore his clothing trying to climb a fence. He laid the pheasant on the ground, tried to untangle himself from the fence, cut his hand. Just as he reached for it, the "dead" bird flew away.

LATIN AMERICA

ISOLATIONISTS

ARE "SHAKEN"

New York, Nov. 17 (AP)—Nowhere

was our swift and decisive blow against the Axis in Africa more applauded than in Latin America, where the isolationist stand of the Argentine and Chilean governments was shaken.

Argentine and Chile are the only Latin American countries which maintain diplomatic relations with the enemy, but Chile is edging closer to a break, and Argentine President Racion S. Castillo has been forced to make several gestures to quiet a redoubled popular outcry against the Axis.

Chief argument of the South American isolationists has been that the Axis might win. The timid profess to fear an enemy invasion across the south Atlantic.

African developments shot that argument full of holes, and the South American neutrals appear to know it.

Solidarity Expressed

Chilean President Juan Antonio Rios sent Mr. Roosevelt a warm message hailing our African move as tending to "guarantee the security of the Western Hemisphere."

He pledged his government to continue its crackdown on Axis agents and push production of vital war materials for the Allies.

Foreign Minister Enrique Guinazu of Argentina sent a polite message expressing "solidarity and interest."

Argentina also announced new rigid controls of cable and wireless communications to prevent "messages that might injure the security of American countries."

And it thanked Under Secretary Welles for having sent three memoranda giving evidence of Axis espionage in Argentina.

Some Chileans predict that their country will break with the Axis before long. They say that fears of Japanese aggression have vanished and the Under Secretary of State Sumner Welles, by calling attention to Axis espionage in a Boston speech October 8, has exploded a belief held in some Chilean quarters that Chilean neutrality was condoned at Washington.

But Argentine sources are doubtful that the Castillo government will quickly abandon its neutral policy.

President Castillo is considered proud, stubborn and a fighter.

Conservatives in Control

He's a thorough nationalist, representative of the up-country cattle and wheat barons who have been conservative and isolationist since colonial days.

The conservatives have the government by accident—the death of pro-democratic President Roberto Ortiz, which elevated then Vice President Castillo to the presidency.

The conservatives want to stay in power, and the neutrality issue is tangled with Argentine politics.

The government is concentrating its energies on heading off the presidential candidacy of General Augustin P. Justo, leading pro-Allied political figure in the country. Elections take place next October.

Observers say that a break with the Axis would boost Justo's stock tremendously, although many Argentine liberals object to him because of local issues. These local issues now are overshadowed by the unpopular neutrality policy of the government.

Some Argentines feel that Castillo won't break with the Axis until he can make such a move help the conservatives and not the opposition.

A specified objective and return to camp within a specified time . . . to avoid being "captured" by a patrol that would be sent in pursuit shortly after they left camp . . . that they would have to forage for their food, make their way as best as possible . . . but in any event to avoid "capture."

That sounded like a good story and so Mrs. Brown set out a fine meal for the two young men which they ate with considerable zest and appreciativeness. When they were finished they thanked Mrs. Brown, stepped outside, darted around the side of the house and out across the open field in the rear of the home. They had said that they were avoiding all main highways and were on their way back to camp.

It's a pleasure and a privilege to be a resident of Gettysburg and Adams county. When it comes to doing things in a big way Adams county is second to no other county in the state. Here are some supporting facts: The Red Cross asked us to raise $13,000. We went over the top. The Treasury department asked us to sell $135,700 worth of war bonds in October. We went over the top by more than $23,000. The USO asked us to raise $5,000 in two weeks. We went over the top by more than $1,000. And so it goes. One after another Adams county always comes through.

Yes, Uncle Sam, you can always depend on Adams county.

"Forward With Books" is the nation-wide theme of the twenty-fourth annual festival Bookweek. Over the radio, in the press, schools, churches, clubs, libraries, and homes the theme is developed in a country-wide effort to increase wider love of books for information as well as for morale building and recreation. Public opinion grows out of an aroused interest and books help in this. The most remote home is no longer isolated from the good effects of good reading nor should it be possible longer for any citizen to suffer from too few books received too late. In war as in peace, books continue to be the medium through which the greater part of public education at all age levels must be carried on.

It is the purpose of Bookweek to develop on a nation-wide basis the love of books, an increased public appreciation of books, an increased public demand for public book facilities, and to encourage private book ownership and companionship.

MISS BENNETT NOT MISSING, ONLY RESTING

Beverly Hills, Calif., Nov. 17 (AP)—Barbara Bennett, whose desire for a little rest caused Southern California police officers to lose a lot of it, is safe at home and says she can't understand what all the fuss was about.

While the widespread search was on, Miss Bennett said, she was in seclusion in a rest home and knew nothing of the alarm her absence had caused. She was reported missing Saturday morning by her husband, Addison Randall, screen cowboy.

Miss Bennett, former wife of singer Morton Downey, left her apartment Friday evening, presumably to keep a dinner engagement at the home of James Doane, actor's agent, and Mrs. Doane.

"But I changed my mind," Miss Bennett explained, "and didn't go there. Instead I went to another friend's home and telephoned the Doanes that I wouldn't be at the dinner."

Hint Separation

"I decided I needed a rest, so I went to a rest home where I registered under an assumed name."

"The first I knew of the excitement was Monday morning," she continued, "when I bought a newspaper and read that I had been reported missing. I telephoned Mr. Randall at once that I was safe."

When Randall filed his missing persons report at police headquarters Saturday he said she was "somewhat intoxicated" when she left their apartment Friday night.

Her husband denied reports that they are separating, but said that he is going to San Francisco to take a theater engagement.

"Miss Bennett is staying here," Randall said. "There is no formal separation, although it might come to that."

Randall and she were married in Mexico in June, 1941, a few days after Downey was awarded an uncontested divorce in Bridgeport, Conn., together with custody of their five children.

Two Japanese aircraft carriers and a battleship damaged while the United States lost a destroyer and a carrier still unidentified by the Navy.

Nov. 2—American troops began ground advances on Guadalcanal. Nov. 14—A series of naval engagements started which resulted in announcement Nov. 16 that the United States Navy had sunk 23 Japanese vessels, including a battleship, and damaged seven others, with a loss of eight United States warships.

MURDER on the Campus

By JERRY BRONDFIELD

Chapter 25

THE DELICATE THREAT

Todd walked into the lobby of the Earlton at noon the next day and started for the house phone. A short, smiling man wearing a dark brown suit intercepted him before he reached it.

"You're Malone, of course. I figured I could recognize you so I waited down here in the lobby. I'm Ben Talbott," he said, extending his hand.

Todd noticed the hand was soft, the nails highly polished. It was a hand that wasn't used to much hard work.

Talbott took Todd by the arm and guided him into the dining room. "An associate of mine will join us in a couple of minutes," Talbott said. "We'll take a table, meanwhile."

The headwaiter led them to a table in the extreme corner of the room.

"Both my friend and I will feel honored to have had lunch with you," Talbott beamed.

"Don't make me feel foolish," Todd said simply. "I'm just another football player, if that's what you mean."

Talbott glanced up. "Here comes Crane now," he said. "Hello, Joe, you're just in time. Joe, meet Mr. Malone—Mr. Crane."

Todd rose briefly and shook hands with the other man. Crane was slender and had black hair and sleepy looking eyes. Todd had a feeling he had either seen the man or his picture some place.

"Well, gentlemen, in what way can I be of service?" Todd asked.

Talbott waved a slender hand. "Time enough for that after we enjoy lunch."

So they ate lunch first and made small talk about politics, the weather and a bare mention of football now and then. Todd was impatient.

The Proposition

Talbott took out a cigar when they were through eating and lit deliberately.

"Okay, Malone. Here it is, but I want to get something across first. You may not like the proposition we have to offer. In fact—" he blew a cloud of smoke and watched it closely—"in fact you may be a bit offended. But I'd like you to remember that I am merely broaching a business proposition. Please treat me as such."

Crane folded his hands on the table and smiled.

"Mr. Crane and I, Talbott and I, are betting commissioners. We are the financial backers of one of the large football spot pool pools which you see around the country."

Todd interrupted him. "I don't think there is any business transaction you and I can get together on, Mr. Talbott." Todd said quickly. "So, if you'll excuse me—"

Talbott waved him back to his seat. "Take it easy and hear me through, out of politeness if nothing else. I will come to the point, Mr. Crane and I will pay you $2,000 in return for very slight services. And suppose I remind you of the very start I happen to know Duke Malone is looking around for a nice chunk of money right now."

Todd felt himself jump slightly. "State and Michigan are strictly a toss-up this Saturday," Talbott continued. "We're offering that as one of the five games on a special five-game parlay, and it's the only one we're having as even. That's where you come in."

"I don't come in anywhere, but I still don't know what you mean."

"You see, it's like this. We clean up anyway on a five-game parlay, but if the State-Michigan game happens by some small chance to wind up a tie we make a terrific killing. The games lose for the bettor and there won't be many people picking it that way."

"Now we know there's maybe one chance in 10 of the game actually winding up a dead heat but you can cut the odds much closer than that. With you calling plays—and kicking points after touchdowns—"

Talbott added significantly, "It isn't a remote possibility at all, at all."

"We lose nothing in trying it and reap a harvest if the thing clicks. If you can swing it you're not really throwing the game because you're still getting a tie out of it. It's a beautiful thing for you because—" unless you pull something so obvious that anyone can see it—not even we can tell how much you swing our deal."

"Just so that game ends up a tie we don't care if you just called one little play wrong or fumble one little punt where it doesn't mesh much. We still pay you off."

That's For The Lunch

Something in Todd's eyes brought Talbott to a halt. "Now I know why you skunked wanted me to treat this strictly as a business proposition," Todd said grimly. "You were afraid I'd slug you otherwise. I still ought to. That ought to be answer enough for you."

Talbott looked about him quickly. There was no one within five tables of them. "Sure, maybe you should slug us. But remember this—there's $2,000 you can pick up that'll be the easiest money you ever made in your life and ever will make. It's foolproof."

"And why don't you forget that loyalty business? This world stopped paying off on loyalty long ago. I don't like to remind you but you've taken quite a kicking around in this town the last six weeks."

Talbott's eyes narrowed as he leaned closer to Todd. "And it's two thousand bucks that Duke Malone might need desperately. You never can tell what the Duke might do if he doesn't get that dough. Why, he might even start gambling again," Talbott said with a small smirk.

Todd stood up. His face was dark, his mouth set. He took a dollar bill from his wallet and placed it on the table.

"This is for my lunch. I don't even want you to pay for that. I'd get indigestion later on. And don't come near me again or I'll take you apart. Both of you."

"You're a fool. A blind fool full of rah-rah stuff that never did you

STATE PERMITS WOMEN IN MANY WAR PLANT JOBS

Harrisburg, Nov. 17 (AP)—Pennsylvania is relaxing labor regulations to permit women workers to handle nearly every type of war plant job.

If a woman is fitted to do the work—if she can make the proper physical and mental adjustment to it—she gets the job, Mrs. Mary Rice Morrow, director of the Labor Department's bureau of women and children declared today.

"For instance," she explained, "employment of women to read or test gas and electric meters is forbidden but actually they may do that work on plant premises although not in residential areas."

Some plants obtained permission to use women as crane operators or to give them jobs in chemical or explosives factories but certain sanitary and safety provisions must first be made.

Mrs. Morrow outlined three types of work in which employment of women is restricted:

1. Jobs where heavy weights must be lifted.

2. Jobs in lead work, because of the danger of lead poisoning in maternity cases.

3. Jobs requiring unlimited working hours.

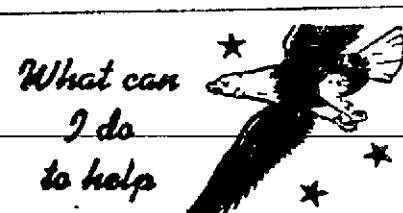

The current labor week for women is 44 hours but the state Industrial Board has extended the work week in several cases.

Employment of women in the state has increased from an estimated one million in 1940 to 1,225,000 this year. The Labor Department demands the same wage rate for women as was given the men they replace.

any good. I hope you change your mind."

Todd strode away without further reply.

$30,000 Receipts At Benefit Game

Pittsburgh, Nov. 17 (AP)—Receipts from the exhibition game Sunday between the Pittsburgh Steelers, of the National Football League, and the Fort Knox Kentucky Armory, for the benefit of the USO-Varsity Club-Centennial building, will total at least $30,000, officials estimated today.

The Steelers won the game, 28 to 6, before a crowd of 23,491.

GOOD BAIT

Huntington, Ind., Nov. 17 (AP)—Indiana police now know what every fisherman knows—that dough balls are good bait. They catch elephants as well as fish. Soothing her ruffled disposition with soft words and 60 loaves of bread, Raymond Dukes, elephant trainer from Ora, Ind., led Mader, the elephant who wanted to be alone, into a truck Sunday night after she had wandered around Wabash and Huntington counties for four days and nights.

MISS BENNETT NOT MISSING, ONLY RESTING

Beverly Hills, Calif., Nov. 17 (AP)—Barbara Bennett, whose desire for a little rest caused Southern California police officers to lose a lot of it, is safe at home and says she can't understand what all the fuss was about.

While the widespread search was on, Miss Bennett said, she was in seclusion in a rest home and knew nothing of the alarm her absence had caused. She was reported missing Saturday morning by her husband, Addison Randall, screen cowboy.

Miss Bennett, former wife of singer Morton Downey, left her apartment Friday evening, presumably to keep a dinner engagement at the home of James Doane, actor's agent, and Mrs. Doane.

"But I changed my mind," Miss Bennett explained, "and didn't go there. Instead I went to another friend's home and telephoned the Doanes that I wouldn't be at the dinner."

Hint Separation

"I decided I needed a rest, so I went to a rest home where I registered under an assumed name."

"The first I knew of the excitement was Monday morning," she continued, "when I bought a newspaper and read that I had been reported missing. I telephoned Mr. Randall at once that I was safe."

When Randall filed his missing persons report at police headquarters Saturday he said she was "somewhat intoxicated" when she left their apartment Friday night.

Her husband denied reports that they are separating, but said that he is going to San Francisco to take a theater engagement.

"Miss Bennett is staying here," Randall said. "There is no formal separation, although it might come to that."

Randall and she were married in Mexico in June, 1941, a few days after Downey was awarded an uncontested divorce in Bridgeport, Conn., together with custody of their five children.

She later tried to obtain the children's custody, but a Bridgeport court denied her plea last month.

Two Japanese aircraft carriers and a battleship damaged while the United States lost a destroyer and a carrier still unidentified by the Navy.

Nov. 2—American troops began ground advances on Guadalcanal.

Nov. 14-16—A series of naval engagements started which resulted in announcement Nov. 16 that the United States Navy had sunk 23 Japanese vessels, including a battleship, and damaged seven others, with a loss of eight United States warships.

MURDER on the Campus

By JERRY BRONDFELD

Chapter 25

THE DELICATE THREAT

Todd walked into the lobby of the Earlton at noon the next day and started for the house phone. A short, smiling man wearing a dark brown suit intercepted him before he reached it.

"You're Malone, of course. I figured I could recognize you so I waited down here in the lobby. I'm Ben Talbott," he said, extending his hand.

Todd noticed the hand was soft, the nails highly polished. It was a hand that wasn't used to much hard work.

Talbott took Todd by the arm and guided him into the dining room. "An associate of mine will join us in a couple of minutes," Talbott said. "We'll take a table, meanwhile."

The headwaiter led them to a table in the extreme corner of the room.

"Both my friend and I will feel honored to have had lunch with you," Talbott beamed.

"Don't make me feel foolish," Todd said simply. "I'm just another football player, if that's what you mean."

He studied Talbott closely, saw nothing but a ghost of a smile on an inscrutable face.

Talbott glanced up. "Here comes Crane now," he said. "Hello, Joe, you're just in time. Joe, meet Mr. Malone—Mr. Crane."

Todd rose briefly and shook hands with the other man. Crane was slender and had black hair and sleepy looking eyes. Todd had a feeling he had either seen the man or his picture some place.

"Well, gentlemen, in what way can I be of service?" Todd asked.

Talbott waved a slender hand. "Time enough for that after we enjoy lunch."

So they ate lunch first and made small talk about politics, the weather and a bare mention of football now and then. Todd was impatient.

The Proposition

Talbott took out a cigar when they were through eating and lit deliberately.

"Okay, Malone. Here it is, but I want to get something across first. You may not like the proposition we have to offer. In fact—" he blew a cloud of smoke and watched it closely—"in fact you may be a bit offended. But I'd like you to remember that I am merely broaching a business proposition. Please treat me as such."

Crane folded his hands on the table and smiled.

"Mr. Crane and I," Talbott went on, "are betting commissioners. We are the financial backers of one of the large football spot sheet pools which you see around the country."

Todd interrupted him. "I don't think there is any business transaction you and I can get together on, Mr. Talbott." Todd said quickly. "So, if you'll excuse me—"

Talbott waved him back to his seat. "Take it easy and hear me through, out of politeness if nothing else. I will come to the point. Mr. Crane and I will pay you $2,000 in return for very slight services. And suppose I remind you as we very start I happen to know Duke Malone is looking around for a nice chunk of money right now."

Todd felt himself jump slightly. "State and Michigan are strictly a toss-up this Saturday," Talbott continued. "We're offering that as one of the five games on a special five-game parlay, and it's the only one we're listing as 'even.' That's where you come in."

"I don't come in anywhere, but I still don't know what you mean."

"You see, it's like this. We clean up anyway on a five-game parlay, but if the State-Michigan game happens by some small chance to wind up a tie we make a terrific killing. The games lose for the bettor and there won't be many people picking it that way."

"Now we know there's maybe one chance in 10 of the game actually winding up a dead heat but you can cut the odds much closer than that. With you calling plays—and kicking points after touchdown—Talbott added significantly, "it isn't a remote possibility at all, at all."

"We lose nothing in trying it and reap a harvest if the thing clicks. If you can swing it you're not really throwing the game because you're still getting a tie out of it. It's a beautiful thing for you because—unless you pull something so obvious that anyone can see it—not even we can tell how much you swing our deal."

"Just so that game ends up a tie we don't care if you just called one little play wrong or fumble one little punt where it doesn't mean much. We still pay you off."

That's For The Lunch
Something in Todd's eyes brought Talbott to a halt. "Now I know why you skunks wanted me to treat this strictly as a business proposition," Todd said grimly. "You were afraid I'd slug you otherwise. I still ought to. That ought to be answer enough for you."

Talbott looked about him quickly. There was no one within five tables of them. "Sure, maybe you should slug us. But remember this—there's $2,000 you can pick up that'll be the easiest money you ever made in your life and ever will make. It's foolproof."

"And why don't you forget that loyalty business? This world stopped paying off on loyalty long ago. I don't like to remind you but you've taken quite a kicking around in this town the last six weeks."

Talbott's eyes narrowed as he leaned closer to Todd. "And it's two thousand bucks that Duke Malone might need desperately. You never can tell what the Duke might do if he doesn't get that dough. Why, he might even start gambling again," Talbott said with a small smirk.

Todd stood up. His face was dark, his mouth set. He took a dollar bill from his wallet and placed it on the table.

"This is for my lunch. I don't even want you to pay for that. I'd get indigestion later on. And don't come near me again or I'll take you apart. Both of you."

"You're a fool. A blind fool full of rah-rah stuff that never did you

STATE PERMITS WOMEN IN MANY WAR PLANT JOBS

Harrisburg, Nov. 17 (AP)—Pennsylvania is relaxing labor regulations to permit women workers to handle nearly every type of war plant job.

If a woman is fitted to do the work—if she can make the proper physical and mental adjustment to it—she gets the job. Mrs. Mary Rice Morrow, director of the Labor Department's bureau of women and children declared today.

"For instance," she explained, "employment of women to read or test gas and electric meters is forbidden but actually they may do that work on plant premises although not in residential areas."

Some plants obtained permission to use women as crane operators or to give them jobs in chemical or explosives factories but certain sanitary and safety provisions must first be made.

Mrs. Morrow outlined three types of work in which employment of women is restricted:

1. Jobs where heavy weights must be lifted.

2. Jobs in lead work, because of the danger of lead poisoning in maternity cases.

3. Jobs requiring unlimited working hours.

The current labor week for women is 44 hours but the state Industrial Board has extended the work week in several cases.

Employment of women in the state has increased from an estimated one million in 1940 to 1,225,000 this year. The Labor Department demands the same wage rate for women as was given the men they replace.

any good. I hope you change your mind."

Todd strode away without further reply.

TYRANT PEACE TERMS

And is it worth the price we pay?
Just look at Norway's plight today,
And France and Holland and the Czechs.
With tyrant yokes about their necks,
Or think of something worse, perhaps:
Our women in the power of Japs.

Should freedom lose its final stand,
Horror will stalk throughout the land.
Remember Lydce? They came
And put the lovely place to flame;
Slaughtered its people, one and all,
The old, the young, the babies small.

They've left no hope; no way for us
Of compromising to discuss.
They've made it plain in starving Greece
How gruesome are their terms of peace.

They've boasted that our land shall see
More than one shattered Lydce.

They've left no easier way to choose,
No doubt of "what if we should lose."
They've shown in Poland and in France
How they subdue where they advance.

They've shown us all too well the cost
It ever should this war be lost.

Today's Talk
By George Matthew Adams

THE INTERIOR LIFE

We disparage so many as to their "day of life." What is it to us that one of our friends chooses to remain quite silent—communing with him self, with Nature, or with God—in search of his own soul?

What is it to us that another decides that his happiness lies in exterior pursuits, in adventure, discovery, or in mere wandering—for the mere joy of the thing? This is a big world—too big for many, who only know the path to their own door from day to day, and who relish only a comfortable bed at nightfall.

How far man is from even solving the merest problem of man himself! The interior life doesn't solve many things—if any. But there it is that the spiritual forces of character germinate, interfuse, and give substance to the mind and to the heart. Thoreau transferred his great love of beauty and for all things in Nature, to the inner communion of his heart. He found companionship in the things that could not melt their interior life into his own. And yet few if any of us can accomplish such a task with anyone.

On the other hand, this interior life that so many lead has a great influence on the world. Thoreau transferred much of his to his journals, when he kept ever at hand, and then to books, which yearly earn more world-wide interest and influence.

How we cherish the first in life! The first consciousness of things, of the first thrill of love, of the first book that we read, of the first genuine friend, of the first journey upon the sea, of the first sort of some rare bird. These we hide away in our interior "hope chest" to soften and comfort our lonelier moments after storms of discouragement or left bereft upon some sea of sorrow.

Much of what we do in life belongs to others, but what we bank and preserve in our interior consciousness is ours and ours alone.

That prayer, which is uttered alone, and in secret, is the prayer that reaches the unseen voice in the innermost form. It is the interior life living the shades and leaving God look in.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "The Make-Up Of A Man."

Senate Poll-Taxers Defy Administration Leaders

CLOTURE MAY BE VOTED TO BREAK TANGLE

Washington, Nov. 17 (AP)—Opponents of a bill to abolish state poll taxes openly challenged administration leaders to a test of strength today with a move to invoke the seldom-used cloture rule limiting Senate debate.

As Democratic Leader Barkley of Kentucky maneuvered to take up the bill at a time when his motion itself would not be debatable, Senator George (D-Ga) told reporters he had no doubt an attempt eventually would be made to obtain cloture.

"I think it would suit us all right if they went ahead and tried it," George said. "I don't believe the Senate would vote for cloture."

This drastic rule, last invoked in February, 1927, when the Senate was considering a bill to create a bureau of customs and prohibition, would bar any member from speaking more than an hour on the bill under consideration.

Time-Killers

The southerners turned today to the summary of yesterday's proceedings as prepared by the Senate journal clerk to find new time-killing devices to forestall action.

Senator Doxey (D-Miss) said the group would insist upon the reading of the journal, usually dispensed with by unanimous consent.

Yesterday the chamber turned up something new for the record books, a filibuster without the usual long speeches.

Southern senators provided enough parliamentary pyrotechnics to stave off Barkley's motion to bring up the bill in a two and a half hour session which found Barkley himself making the longest speech—25 minutes.

Consequently, opponents gained a calendar day in their fight to strangle the measure, which dies automatically if not passed before December 31.

A delaying action by southern senators included nine quorum calls, taking from six to 13 minutes each, keeping Barkley from making his motion until 2:05 p. m., when it became subject to debate. His subsequent move for adjournment, at 2:30 p. m., meant that the Senate must start all over again today.

LATIN AMERICA ISOLATIONISTS ARE "SHAKEN"

New York, Nov. 17 (AP)—Nowhere was our swift and decisive blow against the Axis in Africa more applauded than in Latin America, where the isolationists' stand of the Argentine and Chilean governments was shaken.

Argentine and Chile are the only Latin American countries which maintain diplomatic relations with the enemy, but Chile is edging closer to a break, and Argentine President Ramon S. Castillo has been forced to make several gestures to quiet a redoubled popular outcry against the Axis.

Chief argument of the South American isolationists has been that the Axis might win. The timid profess to fear an enemy invasion across the south Atlantic.

African developments shot that argument full of holes, and the South American neutrals appear to know it.

Solidarity Expressed

Chilean President Juan Antonio Rios sent Mr. Roosevelt a warm message hailing our African move as tending to "guarantee the security of the Western Hemisphere." He pledged his government to continue its crackdown on Axis agents and push production of vital war materials for the Allies.

Foreign Minister Enrique Guzman of Argentina sent a polite message expressing "solidarity and interest."

Argentina also announced new rigid controls of cable and wireless communications to prevent "messages that might injure the security of American countries."

And it thanked Under Secretary Welles for having sent three memoranda giving evidence of Axis espionage in Argentina.

Some Chileans predict that their country will break with the Axis before long. They say that fears of Japanese aggression have vanished and the Under Secretary of State Sumner Welles, by calling attention to Axis espionage in a Boston speech October 8, has exploded a belief held in some Chilean quarters that Chilean neutrality was condoned at Washington.

But Argentine sources are doubtful that the Castillo government will quickly abandon its neutral policy.

President Castillo is considered proud, stubborn and a fighter.

Conservatives in Control

He's a thorough nationalist, representative of the up-country cattle and wheat barons who have been conservative and isolationist since colonial days.

The conservatives have the government by accident—the death of pro-democratic President Roberto Ortiz, which elevated then Vice President Castillo to the presidency.

The conservatives want to stay in power, and the neutrality issue is tangled with Argentine politics.

The government is concentrating its energies on heading off the presidential candidacy of General Agustin P. Justo, leading pro-Allied political figure in the country. Elections take place next October.

Observers say that a break with the Axis would boost Justo's stock tremendously, although many Argentine liberals object to him because of local issues. These local issues now are overshadowed by the unpopular neutrality policy of the government.

Some Argentines feel that Castillo won't break with the Axis until he can make such a move help the conservatives and not the opposition.

It's a pleasure and a privilege to be a resident of Gettysburg and Adams county. When it comes to doing things in a big way Adams county is second to no other county in the state. Here are some supporting facts: The Red Cross asked us to raise $13,000. We went over the top. The Treasury department asked us to sell $136,700 worth of war bonds in October. We went over the top by more than $23,000. The USO asked us to raise $5,000 in two weeks. We went over the top by more than $1,000. And so it goes. One after another Adams county always comes through.

Yes, Uncle Sam, you can always depend on Adams county.

19 ACCIDENTAL DEATHS IN STATE

(By The Associated Press)

Pennsylvania's week-end accident toll reached 19 Monday, the highest total in weeks. Philadelphia alone reported nine fatalities.

Throughout the state, 13 deaths were charged to traffic accidents, including eight in Philadelphia. Four persons were injured fatally in railroad accidents, one man died of wounds received while hunting and another drowned.

Noting the sharp increase in Philadelphia, Deputy Coroners Benjamin Bocchicchio and William Byrd issued a general plea for greater caution by both motorists and pedestrians. They listed these victims: John J. Dugan, 61; Francis J. Bates, 62; James McGovern, 50; Miles C. Jones, 35; Martin Weiss, 42; Jack Kennedy, 17, and two unidentified elderly men. Vincent D. Boston, 45, a Navy yard worker, drowned when he fell from a pier.

Three Pennsylvanians lost their lives in a collision at Weston Mills, New York. They were identified as S. P. Standard, J. Harold Slavin and Edwin E. Pheil, all of Eldred, Pa.

Other Pennsylvania railroad employees were killed Saturday when the engine of a freight train burst at Croston. They were A. H. Schroeder, engineer, of Pittsburgh; John F. Hogan, 40, of Edgewood, fireman, and Joseph Ward, 46, of Altoona, brakeman.

Wilbert E. Gaus, 57, of Hyndman, a Baltimore and Ohio railroad engineer, was crushed to death when the locomotive of a freight train plunged down a 75-foot embankment near Confluence.

Gunshot wounds received in an Armistice Day hunting accident were fatal to Robert Albert King, 42, of Jeanette.

Boards Authorized To Induct 18-19 Class

Harrisburg, Nov. 17 (AP)—Pennsylvania's 422 local draft boards have been authorized to start immediately the induction of 18 and 19-year-olds.

A notice from Col. B. F. Evans, acting state selective service director, said:

"Amendments to the selective training and service act making male persons 18 and 19 years of age liable for training and service having been signed by the President, local boards are authorized to immediately begin sending questionnaires to registrants of these ages."

Approximately 215,000 youths from 18 to 20 1/2 years were registered last June and those who have not already received questionnaires on reaching the 20 1/2 age now will receive them.

STATE NEEDS MORE SHELTERS

Harrisburg, Nov. 17 (AP)—Pennsylvania defense officials were urged today to "get busy immediately" to increase the number of air raid shelters and sirens in areas where tests have shown them to be inadequate.

The appeal came from Dr. A. C. Martz, state defense council director. Commenting on the half-hour daylight air raid drill yesterday, he said reports disclosed an insufficient number of clearly marked shelters "to accommodate the number of people on the streets in daytime" and that in many communities "some citizens still couldn't hear the sirens."

Some of the county and local councils, Dr. Martz added, could improve the conditions before the next blackout, scheduled before Dec. 1.

"They should do it now, wherever necessary," he declared.

Dr. Martz said the Citizens Defense Corps was mobilized "very promptly and fully" in the surprise daylight drill.

6 BOSTON FIREMEN DIE

Boston, Nov. 17 (AP)—In one of the greatest tolls taken by a Boston fire since the turn of the century, six firemen lay dead and two score others were in hospitals on Monday after being pulled from the debris of old Armory hall in Maverick Square, East Boston.

WARTIME CONSTIPATION WAS MY TROUBLE!

"And then I learned lack of 'bulk' is one of its common causes."

"And what a difference that made! You see, I knew this wartime living had upset my usual habits of working, sleeping and eating. But I overlooked the fact that in this rush, my meals were likely to be improperly balanced—and I just wasn't getting the 'bulk' I needed."

"And this very lack is one of the most frequent causes of wartime constipation. Medical and health care are only temporary relief, because they don't correct the cause."

"But Kellogg's All-Bran gets right at the cause by supplying the needed 'bulk.' You just eat All-Bran regularly and drink plenty of water. Why not try Kellogg's All-Bran? It's made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek."

U. S. Sea Victory

bombs from Gen. Douglas MacArthur's planes.

The foe's spearhead—two battleships of the Kongo class, two heavy cruisers, four light cruisers and about 10 destroyers—boiled into the Guadalcanal battle zone after midnight on November 13.

Japs Shoot Japs

An intended bombardment of the American-held airfield preparatory to a large scale landing of troops was thwarted suddenly by American warships arriving at the right moment. It was in this close-range battle that the Japanese vessels slammed away at each other, unwittingly committing a sort of Naval hara-kiri.

The engagement also brought the death of Rear Admiral Daniel J. Callaghan, former Naval aide to President Roosevelt. His flagship, which blew up an enemy cruiser, scored 18 hits on a battleship and sank a destroyer, finally took several 14-inch shells. The bridge was wrecked and Callaghan, "Uncle Dan" to many a Navy man, was killed.

And The Japs Run

Daylight brought retirement of what remained of the Nipponese fleet. United States aircraft picked off crippled enemy vessels left behind as the foe retreated northward.

Stubbornly, the Japanese tried again to land heavy reinforcements for their forces on Guadalcanal. That afternoon 12 transports loaded with troops and heavily guarded by warships were spotted moving on to the embattled island from the Bougainville area.

Shortly after midnight on November 14, the Nipponese warships fired round after round at the American positions on the island. Then the transports closed in for a landing.

Sink 12 Transports

American planes struck quickly and viciously. Torpedoes and bombs smashed into the heavily-loaded transports and eight went to the bottom. The four others eluded the barrage and maneuvered toward Guadalcanal.

Four cargo transports, presumably these same vessels that had escaped the slaughter, were discovered the following day beached at Tassafaronga about seven and a half miles west of Guadalcanal. Air, artillery and naval gun fire reduced them to wreckage.

Meanwhile, other Japanese warships collided again with American forces during the night of November 14-15 near Guadalcanal. The Navy was awaiting full reports on this encounter.

Slowly Limping Away

The sea battle ended that morning. A United States air patrol sighted the remainder of the Japanese fleet limping northward. It did not reappear.

"There was nothing like it in World War I or the Spanish-American war," remarked Nimitz in recounting the victory.

"I know I'd be sweating and bleeding if I had to explain such a loss," the admiral added in answering a question concerning the Japanese commander's probably attitude on the Nipponese defeat.

Regardless of what enemy officers thought, spokesmen from the land of the Rising Sun claimed in short wave radio broadcasts that the American fleet had been annihilated again.

The Federal Communications commission reported in New York yesterday that Tokyo propagandists contended the battle of the Solomons "is proving fatal to the American Navy"; that "the Japanese have the Americans where they want them and mean to keep them there until no American warship is left in active service."

COMMONS ASK EXPLANATION OF DARLAN ACT

London, Nov. 17 (AP)—A demand for a fuller explanation of United States Lieut. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's deal with Admiral Jean Darlan reopened general debate in the House of Commons today.

Asserting that the "strange appearance of Admiral Darlan on the scene," gave a "sinister side" to the successful North African operation, Laborite Sir Percy Harris declared: "This has been a rather bitter pill for those who have been loyal to the cause of France under the leadership of General DeGaulle to swallow."

Up to Churchill

The demand arose after Deputy Prime Minister Clement Attlee had informed the House that arrangements with the former Vichy defense minister, now cooperating with the AEP in North Africa, had been made "with a view to the immediate military situation in North Africa."

Harris declared that the government must give a further explanation lest the Darlan incident harm the British cause despite Attlee's prior assertion that nothing more could be said on the subject for the present.

Attlee said he would leave a full statement on Darlan's position to Prime Minister Churchill. DeGaulle yesterday had disassociated the French National committee from the dealings with Darlan.

When Harris wryly remarked that Darlan may be "a much maligned personality," there were shouts of "No! No!" from the members.

Man of Mystery

"It may be," the Laborite member went on, "that he is not the quivering we were led to believe but if he is not, this is one of the most mysterious chapters in the history of this war and of all countries."

Most London morning newspapers expressed the belief that the Darlan recognition was only temporary. The political correspondent of the London Times said that "Eisenhower's chief concern (after the cease fire order) was to establish order in Morocco and Algeria and push on to Tunisia. . . apart from Giraud, Eisenhower had at that stage no man in mind who could take over temporary, provisional civil administration."

GAME PROTECTOR KILLED

Shippensburg, Pa., Nov. 17 (AP)—Brady R. Mooney, 58, of Shippensburg R. 2, a deputy game protector, was killed yesterday in the collision of an automobile and a truck.
